Public Service Board Calls for Bigger Subway Platforms to Prevent Congestion

Four pertinent suggestions for relieving dangerous congestion in the subway and tunnel stations of the Boston Elevated were handed out by the Public Service Commission today. They are:

1—Build bigger platforms.

2—Cut out obsolete cars in the Tremont street subway.

3—Hire more station employes and drill them in their duties.

4—In time of accident and delayed service, stop admission to crowded platforms until the crowds already there are taken care of.

The commission had been instructed, by the Legislature to investigate the advisability of installing guard rails on the rapid transit lines. It says that guard rails are a menace to life and limb and have been discarded in Chicago and New York. It then suggested the above means of reducing danger to L patrons. The commission said in its report, filed with the Legislature, today:

CONSIDERING GUARD RAILS.

"If any guard rails were installed it would be necessary to bring the cars to stop with their doors opposite the openings in the guard rails provided for the ingress and egress of passengers. As the cars used in surface operation vary greatly in length, as some are provided with central entrances and the remainder with front and rear entrances, and as they are operated both as single cars and two-car units, it would be impracticable in subways like the Tremont street and Boylston street subways, which are used for surface car operation, to space the openings in the guard rails so as to be available for use indiscriminately by cars of these various types.

"The experiment has been tried in New York and Chicago. In New York, guard rails originally installed at a number of stations on the Elevated lines, were removed because of the belief of the management that they increased the danger of accident. Guard rails were also at one time experimentally installed upon certain portions of the Elevated lines in Chicago, but as seven or eight passengers were rolled between the platform and the cars during the first few weeks of operation, the rails were taken down."

CARS OUT OF DATE.

"The practical way to reduce the element of danger at station platforms," the commission says, "is to provide adequate platform area and to prevent undue concentration of traffic at particular stations."

The rolling equipment of the company, the commission says, is in general well adapted for the prompt handling of traffic, "but a large portion of the cars operated in the Tremont street subway are obsolete or semi-obsolete, and entirely unsuit-

WILSON TO DRAFT LAWS

Will Be Asked to Head Committee on Framing League of Nations' Statutes

Paris, Jan. 24.—General John J. Pershing, commander of the American armies in Europe, will return to the United States with President Wilson on the transport George Washington, it was learned here today.

General Pershing inspected the embarkation centre at Le Mans today. He will return to American great headquarters later.

Paris, Jan. 24.—A committee upon which all the associated powers will be represented will be appointed at tomorrow's plenary session of the peace conference to draft the statutes of a League of Nations.

President Wilson probably will be offered the presidency of this committee. The memoranda furnished by the President, together with the plan

SAY MANUEL IS ON WAY TO PORTUGAL

London, Jan. 24.—Manuel, former ruler of Portugal, who was recently proclaimed King by the Portuguese Royalists, disappeared from London today.

It was reported that Manuel was on shipboard bound for Portugal, and is awaiting a favorable opportunity to land on territory held by the Royalists.

By International News Service.

Madrid, Jan. 24.—A revolutionary army that started to march upon Lisbon from Santarem, forty miles distant, has been driven back, said a dispatch from the Portuguese capital today.

Santarem is surrounded by forces with heavy artillery. The Lisbon government (anti-royalists) warned the populace at Santarem to be ready to leave as the place might be bombarded.

The revolutionists had been using Santarem as a base. A number of airplanes had been seized by the anarchist rebels and they were employed to watch the movements of the loyal troops.

DEATHS AND NEW CASES SHOW INCREASE

Week's Average in Influenza and Pneumonia Below That of Last Week

An increase in deaths and new cases, including both influenza and pneumonia, were announced today by Health Commissioner Woodward. The following figures represent a twenty-four-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today.

New cases of influenza, 142; yesterday, 127.

New cases of pneumonia, 11; yesterday, 9.

Deaths from influenza, 23; yesterday, 15.

Deaths from pneumonia, 8; yesterday, 7.

Despite the above figures the week's average thus far is below the average of last week.

The average number of cases of influenza reported daily during the current week has been 135, which compares favorably with the average number of cases reported daily last week, 161. The average number of deaths from pneumonia daily during the current week has been 17, as compared with 18 last week.

The average number of cases of lobar pneumonia reported daily has declined slightly from, 10.6 to 10, and the average recorded number of deaths from pneumonia of all forms shows a slight decline, from 6 to 5.5.

JEWS FLEEING RUSSIA TO ESCAPE MASSACRE

London, Jan. 24.—Seventy-two Jews were slain in a pogrom at Lemberg and 372 others were shot down by Ukrainian troops, said a dispatch from that city today quoting the newspaper Tageblatt. The German report that 1,100 Jews had been massacred at Lemberg was said to be false. Thousands of Jews are said to be fleeing from Russia into Poland to escape death.

Stop Those Honking Night Autos! Beacon Street Can't Sleep!

Aristocratic Beacon street, Boston's blue-blooded thoroughfare of nation-wide renown, went before the street commissioners today with a roar of protest against some forms of motor traffic on their street at night and in the early morning hours.

Motor truck traffic was the chief item of complaint.

But Harvard collegians, speeding toward Cambridge in the "sma' wee hours," with sirens blowing and cut-outs wide open, were also denounced.

The Beacon street residents, representing the cream of Back Bay society and millions of wealth, complained chiefly of loss of sleep and deterioration of their property.

DISTURBANCE UNBEARABLE.

Back Bay matrons, members of the conservative men's clubs, cotillion leaders and so on were among the 100 or more complainants who presented their grievances to the commissioners.

George Lewis, one of the principal speakers, raised a laugh when he said whimsically:

"Possibly the Beacon street ladies fascinate these truck drivers."

The petitioners suggested that motor-truck traffic be diverted from Beacon street between 6 p. m. and 9 a. m.

The complainants were headed by Bentley W. Warren of their street. He presented Mr. Lewis as one of the speakers. Mr. Lewis said in part:

"During the early morning hours there is a tremendous motor-truck traffic. The noise is almost unbearable. I say 'motor trucks,' I add that Harvard students, speeding on their way to Cambridge, with sirens blowing and cut-outs wide open, are just as much to blame as these truck drivers who are forced to work in the early morning hours."

Mr. Lewis then said something to draw the earnest attention of Charles street residents, remarking:

"Why, Beacon street is getting as noisy and as disagreeable as Charles street."

He cited instances of vacant houses on Beacon street, and of families moved away, saying it was on account of the truck noise.

Chairman John J. O'Callaghan of the commission asked: "Are Beacon street residents really suffering from lack of sleep?"

Mr. Lewis: "Look at me. See how thin I am."

$25,000 PUBLIC BEQUESTS BY FITZPATRICK

Public bequests of $25,500, mostly to Catholic institutions, are made in the will of the late Thomas B. Fitzpatrick, president of Brown, Durrell Company. The will was filed at the Norfolk Registry of Probate in Dedham today.

The bequests are as follows: Institution of the Little Sisters of the Poor, Boston, $5,000; House of the Angel Guardian, $2,000; House of the Good Shepherd, $2,000; St. Mary's Infant Asylum and Lying-in Hospital, $2,000; trustees of Boston College, $5,000; St. Elizabeth Hospital, $1,000; Carney Hospital, $1,000; Newton Hospital, $500; Birmingham Hospital, $500; the Guild of St. Elizabeth, of Boston, $1,000; Boston School for the Deaf, Randolph, $1,000; Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, $500; Notre Dame University, Indiana, $2,000; Perkins Institute and the Massachusetts School for the Blind at Watertown, $1,000.

The remainder of the estate, which cannot be estimated, goes to the family. Three sons, Francis G., Paul E. and Thomas F. Fitzpatrick are trustees and executors. Mr. Fitzpatrick's widow is given $50,000 outright.

MADMAN CHOKES WOMAN, SHOOTS TWO OTHERS

Maniac, Thought to Have Escaped From Asylum, Enters Three Washington Homes

Washington, Jan. 24.—A supposed madman attacked three women, two of them war workers, while they were asleep early today. Two of the women were shot, one perhaps fatally, and the other was choked.

Police fear that other victims of the maniac will be found. The man, who it is believed, escaped from a nearby asylum, is still at large, and many women in the national capital are in a state of terror.

Two negroes are held on suspicion by the Baltimore police.

The assailant forced his way into the three homes in a manner not yet learned. He shot Miss Lillian Hood, a war worker living at 1337 L street, and Miss Martha Geagan, who conducts a boarding house, 1312 Connecticut avenue, and choked Miss Florence Fowler, another war worker, living at 1511 L street.

"I just shot a woman and now I am going to shoot you," was the deadly warning heard by Miss Hood, who is twenty-three years old, and whose home is in Brownsville, Tenn., when she awakened at 3:30 o'clock to look into the face of a wild-eyed man leaning over her bed.

WOOD ANSWERS CRITICS OF OVERTIME WORK

Rear-Admiral Spencer S. Wood, commanding the First Naval District, today answered those who were criticising the district for working employes more than eight hours a day. The Admiral said they had discharged already in his district more than 9,000 persons. "This means 'shifting and if means carefulness,' explained the Admiral. "When you come to examine papers by the thousands, have them properly investigated by the different departments, get them signed and other details incident to the granting of discharges, there was necessarily no eight-hour law around."

EARLY DISCHARGE OF MEN SOUGHT

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Speedy return to their homes of the American soldiers still overseas is demanded in a resolution introduced in the House this afternoon by Representative Mahlon M. Garland, Republican, of Pennsylvania, who has just returned from an extensive visit to the American expeditionary forces in France and Germany.

Representative Phillip H. Campbell of Kansas and other Republican members joined Garland in declaring that "there was no longer necessity for American troops to help police Europe and they should no longer be kept on foreign soil.

Garland's resolution also called for the immediate discharge of National Army or National Guard soldiers upon their arrival in this country from overseas.

PLEAD FOR RETURN.

"We want to go home—for God's sake, ask the folks back home to get us out of here—and have us sent back home!"

This was the burden of the heart-breaking appeals of American soldiers he mingled with overseas, Representative Garland declared today.

Garland has just returned from an extensive visit to the American Expeditionary Force "on peace duty"

Trotzky Captured by Finns, Says Swiss Report

Paris, Jan. 24.—Reports received from Swiss sources today state that Leon Trotzky, the Bolshevist Minister of War in Russia, has been captured and locked up by the commander of the combined Esthonian and Finnish troops operating in the Baltic provinces.

The Bolsheviki have been completely defeated in that region and the anti-Bolshevist army is only seventy-five miles from Petrograd. There is no confirmation obtainable here of the report concerning Trotzky.

Washington Surprised at News That Pershing Is Coming Back to U. S.

Washington, Jan. 24—"It is news to me—interesting now"—said Secretary of War Baker when shown the International News Service dispatch that General Pershing is returning from Europe with President Wilson on the George Washington.

General March, chief of staff, also evinced surprise at the announcement, but said it would not be necessary for an order to be issued formally for the commander of the American expeditionary force to accompany the President home.

It was pointed out that the President, as commander-in-chief, could give General Pershing permission to make the trip without a formal order, which, however, may be issued later.

It also was pointed out in Washington official circles that General Haig, field marshal of the British armies, had made a trip back to London after the armistice was signed, and that General Pershing line been constantly on the job for nearly two years, it was not thought surprising he should be making a trip back.

Poland Opposes Decision of Allies to Treat With Bolsheviki, Says Kellogg

By JOHN ECWIN NEVIN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Poland, Jan. 24.—Poland will oppose the decision of the allies to enter into negotiations with the Russian Bolsheviki on Prinkipo Island, in the Sea of Marmora, on February 15, according to Professor Vernon Kellogg of Leland Stanford University, in California, who has just returned here from Poland.

Professor Kellogg, who will return to Poland next week and he would not accept a seat on the inter-allied mission to Prinkipo, but would retain its membership on the commission sent into Eastern Europe by Herbert Hoover to investigate food conditions.

The other George Lvoff, who is in Paris, representing the Omsk "anti-bolshevist government, declared today that Bolshevism had been a brilliant victory when the associated powers consented to treat with their representatives."

Prince Lvoff regards the action of the supreme inter-allied war council as a mistake, taking the attitude that it gives official recognition to the Bolshevik regime at Moscow.

"It will mean the loss of a month's time in settling the Russian question and will make it more difficult to suppress the Bolshevik movement," declared Prince Lvoff. "I suppose that the conference hopes that the meeting on Feb. 15 will not take place through the failure of qualified representatives to appear.

"Such a circumstance would leave the allies with clean hands and ready for energetic intervention in Russia."

Professor Kellogg, speaking from the viewpoint of the Polish people, took a similar view. In part, he said:

"It will be very hard for the Poles to understand why the allies are sending a mission to Poland to see what artillery, rifles, supplies and munitions are needed to enable them to fight the Bolsheviks sucessfully while the associated powers are inviting the Bolsheviks to cease murdering and go to the gates of Constantinople to talk over the situation.

A section of the French press that has continued to comment upon the significance of the Russian decision pointed out today that the French diplomats must adopt a more conciliatory tone or "stand the chance to lose everything." England and America, it was declared, hold the decisions of the conference. Japan is merely following the lead of her ally, England, while Italy is only a doubtful supporter of France. Belief is gaining ground that the final peace pact may not be signed this year and that the conference may last over into 1920.

The warring Russian factions are going to hold up the progress of the conference for about a month.

It is possible that the decision on the Russian question may place an important trump card in the hands of Germany, as the Germans may argue that the Bolshevist committed as many crimes ah they did and that if the Bolshevik regime were formally recognized Germany should be accorded recognition.

Says McAdoo Was Double Crossed on Railroads

By International News Service.

Washington, Jan. 23—Government control of railways is so distasteful to the shippers of the country that were a popular vote taken today almost three it would be overwhelmingly defeated, Clifford Thorne, representing a dozen shipping concerns and associations told the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today.

"If the members of Mr. McAdoo's staff had deliberately planned to double-cross the director-general," Thorne asserted, "and thereby to make government operation so unpopular that it would tend to kill any possible movement toward government ownership, the could not have adopted any more effective methods than those which they have actually adopted."

WAR BETWEEN CZECHS AND THE POLES NEAR

The Hague, Jan. 24.—So strained are the relations between the Czechoslovaks and the Poles, according to dispatches today, that a state of war may be declared at any moment. The Neues Weiner Tageblatt is quoted as directly forshadowing such action.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Official advices state that the peoples of Caucasus and the Georgians will claim independence before the peace conference, and have placed their program in the hands of the Polish delegates.

HINDENBURG IN BATTLE WITH POLES

The Hague, Jan. 24.— German troops, under Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General von Boelow, have checked the advance of the Poles into Germany in a battle near Thorn, according to information received here today.

Fifteen nationalities are reported to have broken out in Bohemia. The situation has become so serious that troops are being called from Slavonia to keep down the disorders.

By H. J. GREENWALL
Exclusive Cable by the International News Service from the London Daily Express.

Berlin, Jan. 24—"One million soldiers are now being recruited in Germany to fight the Bolsheviki and the Poles," it was declared by War Minister Reinhardt today.

"Germany is now in a state of transition," he said. "While 1,000,000 men are now being recruited for use against the Bolsheviks and Poles, there will not be a single German soldier left when one has been dissolved. The volunteers receive seven marks a day. But it will be impossible for us to cope with the Bolshevik army near Riga unless the allies prevail upon the Poles to cease their strife."

Robert Emil Eichhorn, former Bolshevik chief of police, is still in hiding, but is believed to be directing the strikes that have sprung up all over Germany.

Amsterdam, Jan. 24.—German government troops have recaptured the railway station at Hamburg from the Spartacans, it was reported from that city today. Fighting continues in the suburbs. Passengers reveal that Karl Radek was the instigator of the recent troubles.

Radek was the representative of the Russian Bolshevikl in Berlin.

35TH WELL SUPPORTED IN FIGHT, SAYS BAKER

Washington, Jan. 24.—There was no lack of artillery support, ammunition and food for the 35th Division in the fighting in the Argonne forest, but on the contrary there was an excessive supply of these necessities, according to reports received from abroad by Secretary of War Baker and General March, chief of staff. Thus Baker and March today testified before the House Rules Committee in answer to a resolution introduced in the House recently by Representative Campbell of Kansas, calling for an explanation of reported heavy casualties suffered by the 35th Division, made up mostly of Kansas troops, in the Argonne battle through lack of proper artillery support, ammunition and food.

ARMY HOSPITAL MEDICAL MEN ON HUNGER STRIKE

Tarrytown, N. Y., Jan. 24—Army officers expect to investigate complaints made by medical corps men at the East View Hospital, near here, against their food. Some of the medical men went on a hunger strike yesterday. They say the food is injurious and that they get little or no meat. About one thousand wounded soldiers are expected to arrive at the hospital soon.

'SEND US HOME,' CRY U. S. MEN IN FRANCE

along the Rhine. He spent Christmas with the American soldiers stationed at Coblenz. He journeyed over the battlefields of the Argonne, where so many American soldiers still lie where they fell, "with wooden crosses to mark their rude graves," he said.

"Our soldiers have no business over there now," Garland declared. "I shall tell the House why they should be brought home at once. I made a careful study of the conditions in France and Belgium and along the Rhine—in Germany—while I was overseas. I went among our boys—boys, not only from my own State, but from other States—and when they found out that I was a member of Congress they besieged me in large numbers to have them sent home. I felt uncomfortable and unhappy as I looked into their young faces and listened to their heart-wrenching pleadings and realized I could not help them.

WILL FIGHT HARD FOR BOYS.

"But, by God, I am going to do all I can—now that I am back—to help them. I am going to fight, as long as I have any fight left in me, to have them brought back home. Any man, with a drop of red blood in him, who talked with them and mixed with them as I did, for days on end, would do the same thing!"

Garland, a big man, who tips the scales at considerably more than 200 pounds, clenched his large fists and closed his strong jaws as he spoke.

In Pittsburgh, where between the ages of 4 and 14 years, on the farm and in the steel mill, or drove mules on a towpath, long before he became a labor leader to be reckoned with, he possesses the reputation of being "some fighter."

"But I am going to save some of my ammunition to take the House itself over there and put its members with our boys at Coblenz and elsewhere in Germany," he continued. "I am going to tell the House of the construction of rude barracks for our boys—barracks with mud floors and not nearly as good as the barracks we provided at our cantonments in this country. Our boys are mostly billeted in Germany. They seem to get along as well with the Germans as could be expected.

GERMANS CALL WAR DRAW.

"As for the Germans—this is absolutely the truth. They refuse to admit that they were licked. They describe the war as a 'draw,' because, they declare, the armistice was signed before we and our allies had agreed to a suspension of hostilities. I don't mean to say that the German will claim victory. He will chip on his shoulder, but he simply refuses to admit that Germany lost the war.

"There will be many of our boys—thousands of them—who will never come home. They lie in French soil—most of them where they died fighting—along roadways or near shell craters—those brave boys who were wiped out in such terrible numbers in the Argonne.

"I make this charge advisedly. There were 'greens' American boys sent into the thick of the fighting without having had rifles in their German rifles. I shall have more of this sort of thing to present to the House. I shall have other horrors to wake which I will back up with facts. I have no desire to go war-mongering, but I believe that it is high time the American people learned the truth of what happened to their brave boys overseas—and especially in the last days of the war."

Speaking of food conditions overseas, Garland explained that he had only observed them in France, Belgium and Germany, and naturally was not prepared to speak from personal experience of those conditions in Poland. He declared it is up to Congress to appropriate $100,000,000 for foodstuffs for eastern Europe to check the "spread of Bolshevism westward."

Fight Over Will of 96-Year-Old White Light Devotee

By International News Service.

New York, Jan. 24.—Ninety-six years old is no proper age at which to be caught in the whirl and lure of Broadway, according to Mrs. Margaret McMullen, who has on file today a suit to break the will of her late aunt, Mrs. Catherine L. Taylor.

William J. Smith, thirty-five years old, former hotel bellboy, and now residuary legatee of Mrs. Taylor's $250,000 estate, is charged with having exercised undue influence by introducing the aged lady to the ways of Broadway after she had escaped the call of the white lights for ninety years.

Mrs. Taylor died at the age of ninety-six, according to Mrs. McMullen, the last six years of her aged aunt's life were spent largely at theatres, Broadway cafes and cabarets with Smith. "He would bring her back to her apartments at all hours of the night," Mrs. McMullen says.

The niece was cut off with only $5.

NEW YORK HAILS 10 MORE SHIPS WITH TROOPS

New York, Jan. 24—Ten vessels docked here today with American soldiers from overseas. The warships, transports, hospital ships and liners came in so rapidly that the various committees welcome experienced great difficulty in seeing that all were properly greeted.

The incoming vessels were the battleships Louisiana and New Hampshire the steamers Goethals, General Goethals, Chicago, Accomac, Calamares and Surriana, the hospital ship Mercy and the United States cruiser Rochester.

The General Goethals brought 2457 men, including a skeleton organization of the 24th Division, comprising men from Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota and Minnesota, and a detached detachment from Ohio. Also on board were two officers and 174 men of casual company number 11 of New York and 37 other casual officers.

On the French liner Chicago was the 814th Pioneer Infantry, casual companies numbers 15, 17 and 18 and 23 casual officers and men. There were 28 casual officers on the Calamares, 14 men on the Surinam and 27 on the Accomac.

The cruiser Rochester brought naval units from Brest.

Probably the greatest demonstration was staged for the benefit of the 349th Coast Artillery, which arrived on the Louisiana and New Hampshire.

Included in this regiment are many men from up-State New York towns. A committee of welcome from Syracuse was on hand to greet them.

PROTEST RENAMING OF ALTHER STREET, ROXBURY

A controversy over the contemplated changes in name of Alther street, Roxbury, to Crossen street, has arisen following a protest to the street commissioners by Mrs. Elizabeth C. Fisher of No. 15 Colberg avenue, Roslindale, who claims that Alther street was named in honor of her brother, a Spanish War veteran. A petition reached the commissioners to have this street renamed in honor of John Crossen, a native of the district, who was killed in active fighting in France.

STOPS ORGANIZING OF BANDS IN U. S. ARMY

An order to cease organization of army bands was received today at headquarters, No. 99 Chauncy street. Musical Aide John P. Marshall will resign his position February 1. Since his entrance into the army he has organized army bands at the different forts in Boston Harbor and raised over $5,000 for musical instruments.

SEES FAILURE OF JOINT RULE IN TURK CITY

By SAINT BRICE,
Foreign Editor of Le Journal de Paris.
(Written Especially for Universal Service.)

Paris, Jan. 24.—Will the question of the fate of Constantinople get a jump on the decision of the peace conference?

The slowness of the diplomatic machinery has serious drawbacks. Certainly not the smallest of these is the risk of having situations back fire and get ahead of the conference decrees.

Assuredly, nowhere seemed assurance stronger against this risk than at Constantinople. There are reasons. No problem is worthy of more serious deliberation. Nowhere as the final decision more uncertain.

BRITISH RULE POLICY.

The agreement was concluded in 1915 and 1916 between England, France and Russia, which pledged Constantinople to Russia, have become void through Russia's collapse. In any case, the last word would have remained with the peace congress. Everything seemed provided for leaving Britain as they were until this final judgment.

Now we suddenly learn that the English admiral, Calthorpe, runs the police and the sanitary organization in the Turkish capital under British control.

Indeed, we are told that Admiral Calthorpe's powers are backed up in the name of all allied powers, and that they constituted the prelude to an international regime. That is exactly what offers food for thought.

Speaking of an international regime of Constantinople and of laying the foundations of such a regime, but that antedating the decisions of the peace conference.

SOME FOR, SOME AGAINST.

What basis is there for supposing that the peace conference is headed in that direction? Such a course has some partisans; it also has its adversaries. We French have particular reasons for contesting its value. We have had experience of how unequal in the way of international regime. We have seen it at work in Tangier.

On the other hand, we have capital interests in the Orient. France has had a powerful influence in Ottoman affairs. We know how tractable and pliable the Turkish regime can be when properly handled.

Is there another able to handle the Near East with the skill which we are? It is doubtful.

Moreover, there is nowise doubtful is what would happen if an international regime were established at Constantinople. Either such a regime would revert to the hands of a single power or else it would split in two.

SCENT BRITISH DOMINATION.

In the first event the dominating power would naturally be the one that is mistress of the Mediterranean. She prepares for such a role now by forming a very strong naval squadron in the Levant. Then, in the second event anarchy would result from the territorial settlement through a clash of rival interests between the Greeks and Bulgarians.

Perhaps these provisions conflict with the American conception which would like to see in the international regime the first fundamental early fruit of the league of nations.

I say very frankly to our friends across the Atlantic that it is desirable the league of nations should live—and all agreed that it is—one must not throw an apple of discord between brothers recently united.

FEDERAL PRISONER IS RETURNED TO NEW YORK

Robert Brown, twenty-four, alleged to be a fugitive from justice and wanted in New York on a charge of illegally wearing the uniform of a United States soldier, was sent back to New York today.

Brown, who gives his address as East Twelfth street, New York, says he was arrested by federal authorities in New York while in company with a man wanted for smuggling $100,000 worth of diamonds into the country. When in a cafe with an officer Brown says he broke away and came to Boston.

INJUNCTION ON NEW PHONE RATES DENIED SERVICE COMMISSION

TEST SUIT MAY BE RESULT

Telephone Company Must Show Cause Why Injunction Should Not Be Issued

The Public Service Commission today through Assistant Attorney-General Hitchcock, asked Supreme Court Justice De Courcy to issue immediately an injunction restraining the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company from maintaining in force its present schedule of rates, which schedule was arranged and promulgated by Postmaster-General Burleson. Judge De Courcy denied the request, but ordered the telephone company to appear next Tuesday to show cause why such an injunction should not be issued.

The latest development in the telephone rate tangle may mean the initiation of a test suit on which will hinge the right of Postmaster-General Burleson to fix rates on the lines he was authorized to take over during the war. It is the contention of the Public Service Commission that the intention of the congressional act under which the Postmaster-General proceeds is to give him authority to take over and operate telephone and telegraph lines, but to leave the regulation of prices to the individual States.

MAY MEAN LEGAL BATTLE.

Attorney-General Attwill at first held the opposite view, and felt that Burleson's order disposed of the matter. He has changed this view, it was rumored today, and will back up the Public Service Commission in its fight to retain the right to fix prices in Massachusetts.

"If we find that the rates charged by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company are reasonable, then we will not further meddle with the affair," said a member of the Public Service Commission today, "but if we decide that they are not reasonable, that means a legal battle which will probably go to the United States Supreme Court."

ORDER DISREGARDED.

It is intimated that there will be no lack of assistance if the Public Service Commission decides to carry the fight to Washington, as various civic bodies in this State are on record against the new schedule of rates. The new schedule was promulgated by the Postmaster-General on December 31, to go into effect on January 20. Early in January the Public Service Commission investigated the schedule, on complaint that it was unreasonable. There was a hearing in the matter on January 17, and the commission ordered the telephone and telegraph company not to impose the rate now rates until further orders. The telephone company put the Postmaster-General's rates in effect on January 21, regardless of this order.

SEEK GERMAN CANNON AS QUINCY MEMORIAL

Former Mayor Joseph L. Whiton of Quincy has asked Chester I. Campbell, head of the Government War Exposition, for two of the captured German cannon to be used as a part of the memorial which Quincy is to erect in honor of her dead in the service. The city hopes that he will be able to get permission from the government to make this fitting gift to the city.

CALLS ATTITUDE OF SINN FEINERS CHILDISH

London, Jan. 24.—Referring to the refusal of the Irish members to disclose the names of the Irish Ministers, the Evening Mail says this attitude is childish, because the government not only could not arrest them, but planned to release the Sinn Feiners now in prison and send them back to Ireland.

HOLD DESIGNER FOR DEATH OF ACTRESS

London, Jan. 24.—A verdict of manslaughter was returned against Devuelle, the London fashion designer, also known in America, by the coroner's jury which held an inquest into the death of Hilda Carlton, beautiful English-American actress, from narcotic poisoning.

Devuelle was committed for trial at the Old Bailey Police Court. The coroner refused his application for bail on the ground that the manslaughter charge is a drug addict.

The coroner's jury found that Miss Carlton died from a self-administered "overdose of cocaine, but not with intent to commit suicide." It found further that Devuelle had not supplied her with cocaine recently.

This would imply that Devuelle is accused of manslaughter on the ground that he was responsible for the actress becoming a drug addict. If so the verdict is unprecedented in fixing the blame upon the original, not the immediate cause.

Devuelle denied he was threatened with deportation from New York because of the death from drug poisoning of Anna Robinson, wife of Lord Rosebery, in East New York a little more than a year ago.

The dapper gown creator declared he had not made "various acquaintances with elderly men which proved remunerative to him."

He testified Miss Carleton lived in his flat for some time in order to escape an American officer who had proposed to her and had threatened to kill her because she had jilted him. The officer, Devuelle said, had smashed the door to Devuelle's flat, was arrested, and returned to America.

WORKERS BAR AGITATORS AT LAWRENCE

Lawrence, Jan. 24.—I. W. W. or any other outside agitators come to Lawrence in connection with the proposed strike of textile workers on February 3 they will be "thrown out." This statement was made today by labor leaders. He said that no outside agitators would be either invited or tolerated.

While there is little question that a strike will take place on that date, inconnection with the demand of textile workers for a forty-eight-hour week with fifty-four hours' pay, it is understood that labor leaders will not allow a repetition of conditions which prevailed in 1912.

Tomorrow a mass meeting will be held on the Common, when the Mayor and several aldermen will make addresses. They will make a plea against violence.

Heads of the United States Worsted Company (Lawson) Mills here today announced that after a conference with their operatives, the latter refused to reconsider their demand, and expressed their intention of standing by the operatives of other concerns, who are making similar demands. The Lawson mills employ about 5,000.

The management of the Kunhardt Mills has asked the operatives, numbering about 4,000, to meet the employers tomorrow forenoon to discuss the situation. No statement has yet come from the operatives. According to the statement of the Kunhardt managers, the issue of forty-eight hours' work at fifty-four hours' pay is not so material now as it would have been some time ago, as the mills are at present running on a seven-hour schedule. Operatives generally declare that the "shortage" of the managers is "camouflage," that there is plenty of work to do, and that orders are concealed from the workers.

Rubber Bootlegging in Maine; Demon Rum Dies Hard

"Bootlegging" in the good old Pine Tree State has taken on some weird manifestations since impending national prohibition sounded the death-knell of Demon Rum.

A well-known official of Rockland spring the latest and most approved "bootlegging" scheme on his friends when he opened in their presence a parcel-post package containing a brand new pair of hip-length rubber boots, in either leg of which reposed a quart flask, securely nestling as a substitute for grape juice!

Moral: Buy your rubber boots early and avoid the last-hour rush.

CHARGED WITH DEATH OF RIVAL IN FIST FIGHT

Clinton, Jan. 24.—Joseph Spooner, charged with murder in connection with the death of Thomas Culkeet following a fist fight on the Williams estate in Harvard, has been arrested at his farm in Randolph, Vt. Spooner had been tried for simple assault when it appeared that Culkeet would recover from the effects of the struggle, and was discharged. He will be brought back to Clinton and arraigned. He is not expected to fight extradition.

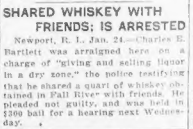
N. H. GOVERNOR ACTS IN BEHALF OF HEROES

Concord, N. H., Jan. 24.—Personal attention to the needs of the soldiers and sailors returning from the service is demanded in a proclamation issued by Governor John H. Bartlett. The proclamation urges that individuals as well as organizations recognize their responsibility.

SHARED WHISKEY WITH FRIENDS; IS ARRESTED

Newport, R. I., Jan. 24.—Charles E. Bartlett was arraigned here on a charge of "giving and selling liquor in a dry zone," the police testifying that he shared a quart of whiskey obtained in Fall River with friends. He pleaded not guilty, and was held in $300 bail for a hearing next Wednesday.

SPECIAL NOTICE



BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION

SENDS GUNMAN TO PRISON FOR TWO YEARS

Declaring that unless Greater Boston sentences the city will be overrun with gunmen, Judge Dubuque in the Superior Criminal Court at Cambridge today sentenced John P. Fitzgerald to two years in prison for his part in the hold-up of John F. Riney the night of December 22.

Arthur Keefe, also of Cambridge, and alleged to have been Fitzgerald's accomplice, was sentenced to jail for three months. Counsel for the young men asked for leniency on the ground of youth, and previous good record. "I have no sympathy with sentiments recently extended to these young ruffians, who are trying to start a reign of terror," replied the District Attorney. The District Attorney had strenuously objected to light sentences.

The defendants were charged with having conspired to hold up and rob Riney, a Western Union night clerk at the point of a revolver. They were surprised and fled without obtaining any booty.

COLD SNAP PREDICTED FOR TONIGHT BY SMITH

A drop of 25 degrees in temperature before midnight is predicted by Weather Forecaster Smith, who heralds the coming of another cold wave from the West. From 41 degrees above at noontie before noon the mercury will drop to fifteen above, and the "cold snap" will linger over Saturday and Sunday, says the forecaster. The northwesterly gale, which has been lashing the southern New England coast is diminishing. Weather statistics show that the entire country from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic seaboard has experienced the heaviest rainfall in months last night and early today. In Boston 1.44 inches fell, in Portland, Me., 2.44 inches, and in Concord, N. H., 1.8 inches.

4 SHIPS BRING 3,375 MORE MEN BACK

By International News Service.

New York, Jan. 24.—Two battleships, a transport, and a hospital ship steamed into port today with a total of 3,375 returning soldiers. They were the Louisiana, the New Hampshire, the destroyer and the Mercy. The Louisiana and New Hampshire brought back the 59th Coast Artillery, which formerly was Brooklyn's "Old Thirteenth."

The Geoster brought 1,149 men, including the 40th Engineers, Battery F of the 56th Regiment Coast Artillery, Casual Company No. 418, and the 102nd French Mortar Battalion.

On the Mercy were 230 sick or wounded officers and men.

Washington, Jan. 24.—More than 4,000 officers and men of the American Expeditionary Forces sailed from France January 20 on the transports Mongolia and Samaritan, General March, chief-of-staff, announced today. The Mongolia is due January 30 and the Samaritan January 31 both at New York.

CLINTON ASKS FOR TRAIN AT MIDDAY

Clinton, Jan. 24.—The Clinton Chamber of Commerce today circulated a petition to the Public Service Commission asking that an additional train be run between Fitchburg and Framingham, connecting at the latter station for Boston, the train to leave Fitchburg at 10:45 o'clock. Clinton, Leominster, Berlin and Northboro have no train service to Boston in mid-day.

HINT SURPRISE IN DEFENCE OF PASTOR HALL

Maine Preacher, Accused Wife-Slayer, Ready to Face Trial Tuesday

Saco, Me., Jan. 24.—Henry N. Hall, the Wells Depot preacher who has been in Alfred jail since August 12, is now in Saco jail, ready for the opening in the Supreme Court here next Tuesday of his trial on the charge of wife-murder.

The revivalist is accused of having killed his wife, Mrs. Minnie O. Hall, by beating or choking her while they were out walking at Wells Depot on June 11.

It was thought that Hall would not be moved here until Monday. But he was quietly brought from the county jail at Alfred at evening by Deputy Sheriff Fred Mashmore, as that his counsel, Judge George F. Emery, who lives just across the Saco river in Biddeford, may confer with his client more conveniently between now and the trial.

There was a report today that the defence is preparing to spring a surprise on the opening day of the trial and that the defence figures on the case being ended in a few hours.

But, outside of any developments of this nature, it is estimated that the trial will run ten days or more.

BELIEVE HALL WILL TESTIFY.

There is general belief that Hall will take the stand in his own behalf. But his counsel, while making a statement at this time, refrains from saying whether Hall will be a witness.

Judge Emery said that Hall maintains his original statement that he did not kill his wife. The counsel continued:

"The people of the Wells Depot Church, where Hall was preaching at the time of his wife's death, believe in the innocence of the man who acted as pastor of the church for some months. In fact, at Christmas they sent him remembrances of the sort, I understand. They have sent flowers, understand, and books and frequently made inquiries as to his health.

"The people of Harrington, where he came from, and his wife's old home, are convinced that Hall is wrongly accused. Almost every person in town is of that opinion. So that I am sure, for I went down there last Fall and stopped a number of days and talked with the people.

"The friends there have sent him little gifts since he has been in jail. He deeply appreciates what has been done for him."

SAILOR BEFORE PREACHER.

He has walked miles and miles in jail to keep in condition. He is allowed to pace up and down the corridor. After he tires of walking he retires to his cell, where he reads for a few hours. He has read the Bible hours and hours since his confinement. He always has it at his side. He was not long ago in the habit of preaching, and he is fond of recitations. He has loaned him a number of books having to do with seafaring ventures, also books of travel.

Chaplain Yada, the Japanese consul-general here, was also asked to take steps to prevent the playing of Wagnerian music at the concert. He replied that although in sympathy with Mrs. Jay's protest he could not prevent the society from playing German music.

RUSSIA DIVIDED BY OFFER OF CONFERENCE

By DR. E. J. DILLON.

Special Cable to the Boston American and Philadelphia Public Ledger.

(Copyright in the United States and Canada by the Philadelphia Ledger Company. Copyright in Europe by London Daily Telegraph.)

Paris, Jan. 24.—The resolution adopted by the Supreme Council, on President Wilson's initiative, to invite organized groups, now executing, or attempting to exercise, all political authority or military control in Siberia or European Russia, to send representatives to confer with delegates of the associated powers, on Prinkipo Island, has caused consternation in Russian circles here, where the belief prevailed that Bolshevism was regarded by the plenipotentiaries and the powers they represent as a scourge to humanity, to be eradicated at all costs.

I am authorized to declare herewith that the governments of Omsk, Ekaterinodar, of Archangel and of the Crimea will categorically refuse to send any representatives to confer with the assassins of their kinsmen and the destroyers of their fatherland.

Under no circumstances will they depart from that attitude, which is commanded alike by the promptings of humanity, sentiments of high patriotism and moral instincts.

STUNNING BLOW TO RUSSIA.

It is my personal opinion that the Bolsheviki, the Georgians and the Letts will accept the invitation, while the constructive elements of the country hold aloof, regarding the Council's decision as a stunning blow to Russia, and that matters will be no further from settlement as ever. If the Russian governments which the Allies are now actively supporting refuse to strike up a compromise with the Bolsheviks, the main object of the commission to Prinkipo Island is already frustrated.

Presumably if the invitation be accepted the results will be embodied in a report for the benefit of the plenipotentiaries, who will then charge a committee or sub-committee to study it and draw conclusions which will enable the conference to increase its stock in trade of ideas on the burning subject and come to a decision. This procedure has its drawbacks, the least of which are delay and vicarious judgment.

ASK FOR PROOF.

The plenipotentiaries declare their sole motive is to help the Russian nation disinterestedly and generously and nobody doubts their sincerity, but the people look for proofs of their ability to discover an issue out of the labyrinth of difficulties that confronts them today.

The choice of Prinkipo Island, one Russian remarked, imparts a farcical color of opera bouffe to what is terrible tragedy for the Russians. The Russians here draw the following conclusions from the action taken by the conference:

First, they say its object is already defeated by the refusal of all constructive elements to agree to any compromise with the Bolsheviks.

Secondly, that the advance made by the plenipotentiaries will strengthen the Bolsheviks' position enormously and hearten them to intensify the persecution of their adversaries as the civil war will become more pitiless than before.

Thirdly, that a league of nations, and even a stable peace, are further off than when the armistice was concluded.

Lastly, that the territorial demands of the Bolsheviks as self-constituted representatives of Russia will be much more comprehensive than those of their adversaries, who were disposed to bring open minds and liberal principles to the discussion of claims made by the various nationalities which hitherto formed part of the Russian empire. The Bolsheviks demand not only Lithuania, Esthonia, Livonia, Courtland and the Ukraine, but also Finland, as federated states of the republic.

It is unfortunately already certain that the millions of Russians represented by the national block in Paris are gradually coming to look upon the results of the plenipotentiaries' conciliatory action as superlatively pernicious to Russia, which will one day recover its position and dismiss guish friends from enemies. Thus yesterday's decision, it is feared, has definitely extinguished all hope of settling Russian affairs through the medium of the conference.

Another important decision of the supreme council is that to send immediately to Poland an inter-allied commission composed of two delegates, one military and the other civil, representing America, Great Britain, France and Italy. I have grounds for believing the Polish army here will shortly be permitted to place its services at the disposal of the Polish government.

WOULD KEEP SOLDIERS FREE FROM DANCE HALL EVILS

Army Officer Appeals to Parents to Obtain Strict Regulations for Recreation Places.

A warning to parents in regard to their children and dance halls, and an appeal to everyone to aid the War Department in returning to their homes in sound condition the soldiers and sailors is contained in a statement in regard to public dance halls written for the Boston American by Major W. D. Wright, in charge of the Commission on Training Camp Activities for this district.

The Boston American's campaign to rid the city of low grade and objectionable dance halls is meeting with the utmost public favor. Social workers are unanimous in their praise of the movement. The police are exercising all possible vigilance, under instructions from Police Commissioner Curtis, and agents of the Army and navy departments are nightly visitors to every public dance to see that nothing objectionable is permitted there.

ASK DECENT DANCE PLACES.

A number of letters received at the American office testified to the widespread interest in eradicating from the life of the city this social evil feature. Among the letters received are those from girls complaining that the closing of St. James Hall has scattered all over town the objectionable people who frequented St. James Hall, making it unsafe for a young woman to go into any public hall, and from uniformed men asking that decent dancing places be established, where the returned boys may take their relatives without fear of the womenfolk being insulted and subjected to the vulgar language which has made the public dance hall infamous in Boston.

Those in close touch with the situation are unanimous in stating that dancing is a necessary recreation. The authorities differ, however, as to exactly what measures are to be taken to so supervise Boston's public dance halls that they will cease to be a danger spot for young girls and uniformed men. It is pointed out that St. Louis has solved the problem with some success. In Connecticut prominent society women have volunteered to act as hostesses, and every public dance hall is now visited each night by a well-known society matron who takes unofficial charge of the dances.

NEED PARENTS' CO-OPERATION.

Major Wright's statement in regard to public dance halls follows:

By MAJOR W. D. WRIGHT.

Young and old need recreation. Dancing has, for generations and centuries, been a most popular form of recreation and, responsive to the desire of young people for dancing, the public dance hall arose.

The dangers here always and everywhere been those attendant upon any gatherings of young people organized and carried on purely for commercial gain. Under such conditions, a proper social supervision and atmosphere is wholly lacking in and about the public dance hall unless very careful, drawn regulations govern the conduct of such a hall and dance, and are strictly enforced and carried out by civil authorities specially chosen for their ability and sympathy for such work. So enforced and carried out, there should be regulations governing every Summer dance hall, at the parks, beaches and amusement resorts.

The dangers of such places and the ignorance of young people regarding them should be remembered by every mother and father who permits a daughter, still in her teens, to wander about day and night, unescorted and uncared for.

Especially during these days of demobilization and reconstruction is the thought and attention of parents for their children of supreme importance, and their fullest co-operation needed with the efforts of the War Department to return soldiers to their homes and communities sound and fit, both morally and physically.

GERMAN POLICE DOGS ON DUTY AT DEVENS

By THOMAS F. PHELAN.

Camp Devens, Ayer, Jan. 24.—There are two German police dogs doing sentinel duty in this cantonment. They were brought here from Alsace Lorraine. And may be they can't tell an enemy. Wouldn't the soldier who tries to get by them at night. They are quartered in the Depot Brigade section, and are on friendly terms with overseas men, but do not appear to be so chummy with the stay-at-homes.

Major F. H. Hugins of the Anti-Aircraft Battalion, which arrived here Wednesday, owns one of the dogs. eH told newspapermen the canines did police duty in No Man's Land.

"The Germans made use of this type of dogs on the battlefields in France," said Major Hugins. "They were trained to carry messages. When a German machine gunner wanted to slip off anybody in the rear of the approach of an overwhelming opposing force arriving the dog would be released and ordered to the rear with the message.

"These dogs also acted as Red Cross scouts. An emblem of the Red Cross was printed on a small blanket, would be tied around the dog's body, and when a wounded German soldier needed attention, and a man could not reach him with supplies, the faithful dog braved the dangers of shot and shell and "They had been trained to go out to No Man's Land. Most of their journeys were made after nightfall. Sometimes the dogs hauled stretchers to wounded men to make them comfortable pending the arrival of help. The work of these dogs on such occasions was superhuman."

Major Hugins was offered $300 for his German police dog and he told the prospective purchaser that he would not part with it for $1,000.

Ball and fly casting for championship honors promises to be one of the most engaging and interesting sports held here since this cantonment was opened. Plans are on foot to hold several such events at Robbins Pond. Lieutenant R. E. Fogle of the 25th Infantry, who in civil life operates medicine in Columbus, O., is behind the undertaking. He is a champion in ball casting at a competition in Cleveland in 1913, which all the crack rod sportsmen figured last June.

BOLIVIA ASKS PEACE MEETING FOR SEAPORT

Paris, Jan. 24.—Bolivia today made formal request to the peace delegates to give her a seaport when the committee of the league of nations meets. The Bolivian claim is based on the historic rights to Tacna province, which is now part of Chile, bordering the Pacific. This province would give Bolivia a harbor. Claims from Peru and Chile, regarding territory, were also presented to the delegates.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains in contact and inflames, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Just obtain about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Advertisement.

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just a final, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leaves in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely moved away and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, are those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, and stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs.—Advertisement.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF ELEVATED DEMANDED AT MASS MEETING

Ask Facts in Stock Holdings; Conry Wants to Know to Whom Dividends Were Paid

Public ownership of the Boston Elevated Railway Company's properties, and the properties of its leased lines, was the dominant note of the mass meeting held under the auspices of the Boston American at Tremont Temple.

Representative Thomas A. Niland of East Boston and a few others criticised the Public Control Bill, but the majority regarded it as a step in the right direction toward absolute public ownership.

In opening the meeting Grenville S. MacFarland pointed to the absence of a large attendance as evidence of the lack of interest in public utility questions, which has brought upon the people of Boston, of Massachusetts and of the country their present troubles.

Mr. MacFarland announced that a chairman was to be selected and the vice presidents as follows:

Senator John Jackson Walsh, 2d. Clarence A. Bowley, 2d.

Mr. Bowley assumed the chair and declared that the only remedy for present conditions in the State taking over the road by right of eminent domain. The following resolutions were adopted:

DEMANDS PUBLIC CONTROL

By William N. Osgood, president of the People's Service League of Massachusetts.

WHEREAS, The private ownership and private management of the Boston Elevated Railway Company is confessedly a failure, and that it is idle now to appreciate as to its causes, whether it was the incompetence or misjudgment of its officials, or the extravagant expenses of operation or low fares, or the refusal of the investing public to purchase its securities; and, whereas its present conditions and difficulties must be met and solved, notwithstanding that the said company, like a mendicant lonely and miserable, has called for public aid and assistance, and, indeed, secured the repeal of the charter of five trustees with great and extraordinary powers to operate it without any dilemma, even to raising fares to meet expected cost of service and unexpected dividends for its stockholders;

AND WHEREAS, Immediate and adequate preparation should be made to avert a great interruption of the service of the company; and that the plan of control embodied in the new law is but a temporary step and not a permanent solution of the problems, in fact, public in their nature; that the proper business of the Boston Elevated Railway Company is public business and cannot successfully be owned, managed or controlled permanently as one-half private and one-half public business; that in common with other street railways it is vainly attempting to suppose only for a brief period its fervent prayer is that it may assume the enormous burden of its impossible enterprise;

THEREFORE IT IS RESOLVED: That in accordance with the powers inherent in the Commonwealth, expressed in its general statutory laws, and also expressly provided in the plan recently enacted for the said company, we favor the abrogation at as early a day as possible of the new, ineffective, cumbersome and probably unconstitutional Boston Elevated Railway Company operation law, and the expeditious acquisition by the Commonwealth of the property and franchises of the Boston Elevated Railway Company and the West End Street Railway Company, through the exercise of its sovereign power of eminent domain.

Adopted by the Executive Committee of the People's Service League of Massachusetts,

CARLETON L. BRUFF, Secretary.

CONRY SEEKS INFORMATION.

By former Congressman Joseph A. Conry:

"At a mass meeting of the citizens of Boston held in Tremont Temple on Thursday, January 23, 1919, it was resolved that the trustees of the Boston Elevated railroad be and hereby are requested to prepare and publish a list of the stockholders of the Boston Elevated railroad, together with the amount of their holdings as of June 30, 1918, and also a list of the stockholders, with their holdings, to whom were paid the first dividends by the public trustees on December 1, and also to prepare and publish a list of the subscribers in the $5,000,000 issue of preferred stock authorized by section 5, chapter 155, Special Acts of 1918."

Jean Sickerson of the Germantown Improvement Association moved that a committee be appointed to watch the Legislature in connection with the Public Control Bill and other legislation affecting the Elevated. It was understood that this committee should be appointed by the various civic societies. The motion was seconded and carried, although no balloting was adjourned with no definite action taken.

The chairman, Attorney Bowley, also advocated the appointment of a committee of one hundred "live" men from each ward and each city and town surrounding Boston, but no action was taken by the meeting.

State Senator Walsh said that there was never a Legislature more responsive to the demand for public service than the present Legislature, and that this Legislature desires enlightenment from the public as to actual conditions on the Elevated.

Any defending the attitude of politicians toward the public, Senator Walsh said it was not the fact of politicians in general, which concerned the public, but the fact of not having the right kind of politicians in our affairs. He said that the public interests, in his opinion, demanded public ownership, but advocating the taking over of the Elevated and West End by the public. Richard Ryan drawn up by the Germantown Citizens' Association, he said.

ATTACKS CONTROL BILL.

"You have a Legislature this year that, I hope, will never be guilty of such a disgraceful thing as that piece of legislation of 1918 known as the Public Control Bill," he said. "I never a Legislature more responsive to the demand for public service than the present Legislature is today.

"The Legislature of Massachusetts wants your opinion and is ready and willing to listen to any enlightenment or instruction the public have to offer."

Representative Thomas A. Niland of East Boston declared that the trustees appointed to handle the affairs of the Elevated have done nothing for the public to relieve the situation but raise fares.

"I have a letter here from the trustees refusing to open the books as ordered," said Niland. "Two Legislatures have ordered these books opened.

"If two or three dozen people would watch the lobbying going on at the State House," he continued, referring to the lobbying methods employed in the interests of the Elevated, "the people would have decent government practices. It is no unusual thing for a member of the House to make two speeches against some corporation steal and then vote for it within the same quarter of an hour. If the people want better conditions, watch the men who represent them in the State House, and watch the performances in the lobby outside."

Niland criticised the Public Control bill and said that it was a failure due to the greed and corruption of those in authority. Regarding the 5-cent fare, he said the only way the Elevated can profit by the 5-cent fare is to open the books, and this the trustees have refused to do. The Boston American put the blame responsible for the public control bill and added that any word of what he said regarding the bill and the American's alleged unfriendship would be printed in the American's report of the meeting.

ATTACKS POOR SERVICE.

In thirty years of paying carfares in Boston, George A. Peck has never seen such poor service as the Elevated is now giving, he asserted.

"If the government can run the streets, sidewalks, schools, sewers, and even sewers, why can it not run the Elevated? Are not the people satisfied with the post office?

"For thirty years I have been paying carfares in Boston and I have never before received such poor service as that given by the Elevated at the present time. Which, however, I hear of conditions in the Legislature from our brothers here (Niland). I begin to think that the Elevated is not so bad after all, or perhaps the Legislature is as bad as the Elevated.

"It became necessary to take many public institutions for the benefit of the public, such as libraries and schools. If this was necessary why is it not necessary to take over the Elevated?"

H. Conrad of Somerville flatly demanded public ownership of the Elevated and West End street lines.

"This is the only remedy for conditions on the 'L,'" he said. "Why can it not be taken by the State by right of eminent domain? Not only would I take this railway, but I would take every railroad and every railroad and place them under State ownership.

"There is only one remedy for transportation conditions today, in my opinion, and that is through the exercising of the right of eminent domain."

When the Kaiser declared war on the world, the Elevated took the same action against the public of Greater Boston, Edward A. Stone of Arlington, who styled himself a "two-dollar man," or common poll-tax payer, said.

Simultaneously with the invasion of Belgium, the "Elevated" began the practice of washing Arlington car windows or cleaning the cars or Arlington in any way, he alleged.

FORCED TO USE CARS.

"It is the two-dollar man that patronizes the Boston Elevated Railway," he said. "We have to patronize it. I do not own a car of my own, not even a driver. I am forced to ride the Boston Elevated or walk. My daughter rides daily on the Elevated to Scollay Square, but to hang on to a strap. It is a disgraceful condition of affairs.

"I have patronized the Boston Elevated for twenty years. The cars are dirtier and dirtier now than in all the twenty years. They are something like the cattle cars we see on the steam roads in the summer time.

"I rode on a car recently into which I would have been ashamed to take a lady. The windows looked as though they had not been washed since the Kaiser declared war. The floor had not been cleaned in the last six months.

"The Elevated apparently does not run the cars for the benefit of the public. It does not seem to have the slightest respect for the public. I think our Legislature on the Broadway like we have the junk of the entire Boston Elevated system. We have all kinds of cars out there.

ASKS FOR IMPROVEMENTS.

"I would advise every man and woman that lives within a mile or two of the State House to walk here and forth to their work. I would not let the Elevated say that it was independent upon it if I could help it. This habit of paying eight cents for a ride of a block or two is nonsense.

"The best thing to do with the road is to put it up at auction and sell it to the highest bidder. If this is not done immediately, there will not be anything left to sell.

"If the trustees would become acquainted with some of the men that run the cars and some of the men who look after the tracks they would learn something of improvements that might be made to the system."

The Public Service Commission is all wrong, in the opinion expressed by Cornelius Desmond of Dorchester, who declared that the members should be summarily removed "for the good of the public service."

"I am qualified to do as good a job as those men have done, and I have not even a complete grammar school education," he said. Those men do not ride on the street cars. It is not a square deal, and it has not been a square deal for years. When we had other roads competing with the Elevated we used to get something for our money.

"Conditions in Charlestown and in other sections of Boston and Greater Boston are so vile during the rush hours that the police should be authorized to step in and take a hand, Representative James J. Mullen of Charlestown said.

"I am ashamed to have my sister or any wife of any member of my family ride on the cars of the Boston Elevated," he said. "If the Elevated officials could be at Haymarket square in the rush hours of 5 and 6 o'clock in the evening and see the way the cars are packed it would be a different story entirely.

"It is beyond description. From a moral standpoint the police should be authorized to take a hand. Conditions are disgraceful and immoral.

"In London when a car arrives at its full seating capacity and four to five men are standing, a sign goes up, 'No More Passengers.' And London is far more congested than Boston.

WANTS STATE AID STOPPED.

"I have brought a bill before the Supreme Court to restrain the State Treasurer from paying any moneys to the Boston Elevated Railway. If this bill is approved, the Boston Elevated Railway will collapse, as it ought to collapse, and then the State can take it over by paying a fair, honest value, a value more nearly that of the property than the high value the Elevated sets upon its property.

"I believe that the State Treasurer has no right to pay out money, be-

Fares Paid on B.&W. Not All Turned in, Says Witness

"If the Boston & Worcester trolley line got the money that its passengers pay there would be but slight necessity for it asking for an increase in fares," says John M. Duffy of Wellesley when, with a score of other remonstrants, he appeared before the Legislature committee to protest against the proposed increase by which fares on the road would be advanced from six to seven cents.

Duffy also said that on one trip he made on the line recently he noted three instances in which passengers "didn't pay a cent," and he urged that some plan should be adopted by which the road would secure all the fares to which it was entitled.

Arthur E. Stone, general manager of the road, predicted that if the revenues were not increased the road would be forced into a receivership.

Is Your Blood Starving For Want of Iron?

From Is Red-Blood Food—Nuxated Iron Helps Put Roses In the Cheeks of Women and Strength and Energy Into the Veins of Men.

If you were to go without eating until you become weak, thin and emaciated, you could not do a more serious harm to yourself than when you let your blood literally starve for want of iron—iron that gives it strength and power to change food into rosy tissue, muscle and brain. Without plenty of iron in the blood, no matter how much or what you eat, your food simply passes through you without doing you any good—you don't get the strength out of it you should. You are filled with youthful strength and energy you are weak, nervous and run down. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to take Nuxated Iron. See how long you can walk or how far you can climb without becoming winded. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks, then test your strength again, and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were ailing and ailing have been astonishingly increased their strength and vitality simply by taking iron in the proper form. But don't take the cheap forms of metallic iron that may injure the teeth. You should take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated, like Nuxated Iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. You can procure Nuxated Iron from your druggist on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction or your money will be refunded.

SUBWAY GUARD RAIL IDEA REJECTED

Public Service Board Calls for Bigger Platforms to Relieve Congestion

With reference to its recommendation that additional men be employed at stations for regulating the flow of traffic, the commission says:

"In the Tremont street subway and the East Boston tunnel, the number of station employes has been reduced by nearly one-half. We believe the management of the company might well consider whether so large a reduction is justified. Better instruction and supervision of platform attendants is also desirable, and they should not be required to perform other duties which may make it necessary for them to absent themselves from their posts.

In cases of a serious interruption of service, station entrances should be closed or other means taken to guide passengers before congestion on the station platforms becomes acute, and passengers should be advised of the probable delay in the resumption of service, so that they may, if they choose, attempt to reach their destination by another route. We believe that there is a rule of the company to this effect, but its more frequent enforcement is desirable."

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

With the American Army of Occupation, by Courier to Nancy, Jan. 24.—The entire Rainbow Division is proud today of Captain George A. Glenn of Gadsden, Ala., attached to the Headquarters Company of the 167th Infantry, for the pluck and presence of mind he showed in handling a projectile which endangered the lives of many officers and men.

The feat was performed during realistic war manoeuvres at Lonsdorff, on the left bank of the line below Coblenz and close to the junction of the Yanks and Canadian forces. Machine guns of various types and artillery were hurling real stuff. The infantry was firing volleys. It was just as though a German attack was being repulsed.

Then Private Frank Lewis of Ohio passed in front of a mortar as a projectile was released. The high explosive projectile, twelve inches long and three inches wide, struck him under the left arm and was imbedded in his left side to a depth of ten inches, killing him instantly.

Realizing the danger to every officer and member of a gun crew within a radius of three hundred yards in the event of an explosion, Captain Glenn ran to the side of the fallen soldier, pulled out the projectile, and tossed it into a safe hollow. Captain Glenn was highly praised by his superiors for the act.

1,000 GUESTS TO HONOR AVIATOR RICKENBACKER

New York, Jan. 24.—Eddie Rickenbacher, star ace of the American aviators, will be back in his homeland tomorrow or Sunday, or whenever the Adriatic docks. The former auto racer and more lately German chaser, has twenty-six official notches on the steering wheel of his airplane. A delegation of Congressmen will attend a dinner to Rickenbacker February 3, where 1,000 guests will do him honor.

NONE SEEK WORK AT NEWPORT CITY BUREAU

Newport, R. I., Jan. 23.—The first day of the municipal employment bureau, which is being conducted by the department of streets and highways under the general direction of Mayor Mahoney, was not very productive. Not a man appeared at the bureau seeking an opportunity to work.

Talk on Czecho-Slovaks

Joseph Suk will speak for the Special Aid Society at its headquarters, No. 377 Boylston street, Monday, at 4 p. m. Mr. Suk will speak on the Czecho-Slovak situation.

DOWN COME EGGS AND BUTTER AT LAST

Sensational drops in the prices of butter and eggs have been features of the Boston market for the past two weeks. In the case of eggs, the dealers say that the end is not yet. The hens have apparently been fooled by the Springlike weather and their constant cackling keeps the poulterers busy collecting the eggs.

Boston jobbers' prices for hennery eggs have fallen from 78 to 67 cents, retail prices being about 10 cents in excess of those figures. If the weather continues warm, further reductions in the price of eggs are predicted.

The drop in butter prices has been equally startling. Thirteen cents a pound in two weeks is the extent of the slump to date. Jobbers' prices for the best creamery butter at present are 61 cents, and retail prices about 67 cents. Other grades of butter have dropped in proportion.

Two causes are assigned. The New York milk strike has caused dealers to turn their cream into creameries instead of selling it to consumers, and the release by the government of large quantities of butter which it had in storage.

FITCHBURG FIRST WITH QUOTA FOR FRENCH FUND

Fitchburg, Jan. 24.—Fitchburg is the first city in the State to raise its quota of the $2,000,000 being raised in the United States by the American Committee for Devastated France to restore the sections of that country ruined in war. Fitchburg was asked to raise $2,500, and under the direction of Mrs. Alvah Crocker, Jr., and her committee, secured that sum on a few days.

SOCIALISTS CALL THEIR LEADERS TOOLS OF RICH

New York, Jan. 24. — Socialists awoke this morning to find themselves unexpectedly thrown into the capitalistic class. That is, 1,000 Socialists at a meeting here went so far as to class their own leaders as tools of the much hated capitalists. The meeting was held as a "memorial" to Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg, late leaders of the German Spartacans.

NEW YORK GARMENT WORKERS WIN STRIKE

New York, Jan. 24.—Having won a 44-hour working week after a strike of three months, fifty thousand men and women members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America will return to their jobs next Monday. Extension of the 44-hour week to the entire industry was recommended by an arbitration board. Early settlement of the strike of 35,000 dress and waist makers is now expected.

WORLD'S LARGEST HOTEL OPENS TOMORROW NIGHT

New York, Jan. 24.—The new hotel Pennsylvania, said to be the largest hotel in the world, will be opened here tomorrow evening. The hotel has 27 floors, including three basements, and 2,200 rooms. It is owned by the Pennsylvania railroad and occupies a block across the street from the Pennsylvania terminal.

COSGRIFF LEADS MOVE FOR GREATER NEWPORT

Newport, R. I., Jan. 24.—Announcement is made of the designation of M. D. Cosgriff as director of the War Camp Community Service of Newport, succeeding Leo Charles Kelly, who is to return to New York to resume the practice of law. Mr. Cosgriff will work for a greater Newport and a larger naval station.

COURT RULES PIANO IS SOMETIMES A NUISANCE

New York, Jan. 24.—A piano is sometimes a nuisance, according to a ruling by Supreme Court Justice Platzek on file today. Aesthetic or sensitive souls needs not be alarmed, however. The piano in this case is a mechanical affair. It was operated by The Moulin Rouge restaurant and neighbors complained. I. L. Schuman, in objecting to a police court fine of $100, declared he had already dispensed with a drum to please his neighbors. Nevertheless, Justice Platzek sustained the fine.

NEWPORT LOSES THE HOSPITAL SHIP NEWARK

Newport, R. I., Jan. 24.—The naval hospital ship Newark, at one time a famous cruiser, is being towed from Newport today to New York waters by naval tugs for duty in connection with the naval hospital.

AMERICAN BANKERS ELECT BOSTON MAN SECRETARY

New York, Jan. 24.—The executive committee of the clearing house section, American Bankers' Association, has selected Asos E. Hill of Boston for the position of secretary, succeeding Jerome Thralls, who resigned recently to become secretary and treasurer of the Discount Corporation of New York. Mr. Hill has had twenty years' banking experience with the Traders National Bank of Lowell, Mass., of which he was cashier for ten years.

Overcoat Prices Next Winter Will Not Be Any Lower

Wise Men Will Buy Now and Save in This Great Underpriced Sale of Up-to-Date

OVERCOATS

The Season's Best Opportunity to Secure an Overcoat at a Ridiculously Low Price

Only 250 placed on sale for Today and Tomorrow. In this assortment are Overcoats worth $25 and $30. All to Go at One Price $19.50

Because we must reduce our stocks, we have disregarded all former selling prices and marked these high-grade overcoats at a price which will bring thrifty men "a-hurrying" here while this sale is on. Remember, there will be many cold days before winter is gone.

The materials—the fit—the workmanship put into these overcoats are absolutely satisfactory. They are cut along lines which all nobby dressers demand. Moreover, we doubt if you can duplicate them elsewhere at anywhere near the price—$19.50.

Over their coffee at Thompson's Spa—

TWO MEN were discussing probably the most universal topic of conversation today—the Filene policy of charging for deliveries and for charge accounts.

We couldn't help hearing the conversation, for we were on the next stool. Both were roasting us roundly. Both were apparently good, substantial business men, yet in the case of stores they seemed to think that by some magic charge accounts and deliveries cost nothing!

Said one: "Well, if Filene's admit they cannot conduct their charge business as well as other stores, and must take enormous losses, I don't see why I should pay for it."

And the other rejoined: "Yes, they say they return the money they save, but I doubt it."

Mr. Business-Man, consider; service is never free. It always costs you something, even though that charge is generally hidden in the cost of merchandise. Our cost of operating these services is considered low among merchants, our losses from bad accounts negligible! Yet even here they totalled a very large amount.

Now, our plan is this: Deduct the total cost of these services from the cost of merchandise. You pay cash prices. Then if you want service pay its bare cost. That gives everybody the kind and amount of service they want, eliminates waste, and so saves money all around. As a Business-Man-or-Woman, isn't that good business?

And as to giving back this money, permit us to say this: That so far we have given back MORE rather than LESS. And how's business? FINE! Doing more than we ever did in January, right on the heels of the biggest December in Filene history.

Almost any woman could find HER hat in our $6 shop

The hats there are not the usual type of $6 hat. They come from a maker who specializes on inexpensive hats. He buys expensive model hats, just as the maker producing high priced hats does.

But he does more; he buys his own straws, making his own hats from beginning to finish. That explains the good style and the wonderfully good value.

Sketch shows one of the new smallish, high-crowned lisere hats, faced with henna colored crepe. The little pair of foolish feathers is uncurled ostrich.

CAN'T FIND DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears after one of two applications of Danderine rubbed well into the scalp with the finger tips. Get a small bottle of Danderine at any drug store for a few cents and save your hair. After several applications you can't find a particle of dandruff or any falling hair, and the scalp will never itch.—Advertisement.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

Look at tongue! If feverish, bilious, constipated, take no chances.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy. Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—Advertisement.

Petition to the Secretary of War to Send Soldiers Home With Six Months' Pay

Sign this petition, get your friends to sign it, and forward it to the Boston American, 80 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.

To the Honorable Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War:

The undersigned respectfully urge you to return to their homes as soon as possible the soldiers who have accomplished so brilliantly every object America had in the war.

We urge, also, that you obtain the necessary authority to pay these men their military wages for six months, or for some sufficient period after their discharge from the army until they can obtain useful and remunerative employment.

We urge this as an act of simple justice by a great nation to its heroes.

HOSPITAL ACCUSED BY DOCTOR, IS CLAIM

Lawrence, Jan. 24.—A Lawrence doctor has sent the city health officials a letter, in which it is stated there are sensational charges regarding the conduct of the influenza hospital formerly maintained on Emery Hill. The letter was not read at the health board meeting, but it was filed. It is said to concern the discharges of a patient from the hospital whose doctor claims he was "kicked out" while in a weak and feeble condition. The health officials claim that the patient had improved when discharged.

250 AMERICANS WHIP 2,000 GERMANS

New York, Jan. 24.—How the 165th Machine Gun Battalion, made up of New Englanders, a majority of whom come from Boston, although outnumbered by the enemy at odds of more than ten to one, held back the Germans and prevented them from breaking through at St. Mihiel, in their offensive of last Summer, was told today by Lieutenant Harold W. Herrick of No. 29 Maiden street, Dorchester, a former traveling salesman, who commanded Company D of the "Fighting 165th."

Lieutenant Herrick arrived in New York on the transport Orizaba, himself wounded in the St. Mihiel battle, when a piece of shell struck him on his "tin stetson," piercing it and causing a deep wound to his skull and a slight concussion of the brain. Herrick has fully recovered and will be enabled to return to his home as soon as he is relieved from the command of his present company today.

"I went overseas in October, 1917, with some of the first of the New England troops," declared Lieutenant Herrick, in telling of his experiences, "and after several months of intensive training at one of the French camps we were sent up into the line.

"We got our first resting period in the early part of June last year, and on the 11th of the month we were ordered back into the fracas again at the little town of Xivray. Within twenty-four hours the fighting turned into one of the most sanguinary of the minor engagements of the war.

"It was daybreak on the morning of June 16 when the German "hell" broke loose upon us in the shape of a two-hour barrage. The din of the cannonade was terrific and the little village was practically leveled to the ground.

"Suddenly as quick as it began the barrage lifted, and I crawled up out of my dugout and looked about. From the ridge at the edge of the village I saw a long wave of the German grays approaching, and then I realized that somehow the enemy had learned of our weakness and were going to smash through our line at this point.

"Then it began—there was 250 of us against nearly 2,000 Germans. There was no doubting this the Boche commander knew that he had us outnumbered. When the Germans got within range of our guns we opened fire with machine gun and rifle simultaneously and the first of the gray coats fell.

"Our artillery had come to our assistance in the meanwhile and the Germans were being battered to pieces. Their own artillery, however, was not idle, and suddenly a large shell burst over our line and a big bit of it struck me on my 'tin hat.' All my 'lights' went out immediately, and when I came to I was in a field hospital miles away from the fighting line. But the Germans had been beaten.

"Nearly one half of the Germans who had attacked had either been killed or wounded, and during the action two German officers had been captured by a small company of our men, who crawled behind their rear and had opened fire on them from behind."

SCOTNEY ROMANCE CLOSED BY HUSBAND'S DEATH

Howard t. White, dead in New York city of pneumonia following influenza, and his wife, Evelyn Scotney, now ill with grip. These noted opera stars have been heard many times in Boston and have scores of friends here.

With the death of Howard T. White, the opera basso, and husband of Evelyn Scotney, operatic soprano, a romance identified with Boston comes to a sad close. Mr. White is dead today at his home in New York, No. 64 Riverside Drive, of pneumonia, following influenza. Mrs. White is also ill with the disease, but is expected to recover.

Boston music lovers who followed the romance of the young couple for its human as well as musical interest will be saddened by the death of the singer, who was in the prime of life and on the crest of a successful career. Although theirs was popularly called a Boston romance, the pair were married in Providence at the home of Mr. White's parents six years ago.

Their first meeting, according to Miss Scotney, took place when she had been in this country only an hour, and Mr. White was the first American she had really seen. She was an Australian and Mr. White a New Englander. He was born in Providence, R. I., June 15, 1881, the son of Dr. and Mrs. William H. White of No. 7 Greene street. Howard was a graduate of Brown University in 1902, and of the Pittsburgh University Law School in 1907. Instead of practising his profession, however being already known as a successful singer, he took up a musical career.

He had begun by singing in small churches in Pittsburgh, and later was leading soloist in the largest church of that city. It was then that he came to the attention of Boston Opera authorities and took a chorus part, at the same time singing in a church in Providence.

He was soon singing solo roles in opera and appearing in concert with his wife.

Miss Scotney, as she is still professionally known, was born in Ballarat, near Melbourne, Australia. She played the piano when a child and studied at the local conservatory for three years.

She first saw Mr. White as she drove from the steamer to her hotel, where her future husband was standing on the steps. They soon met, and according to Miss Scotney's story, were "engaged inside of three months and married in four."

STENOGRAPHER KILLED BY ARLINGTON TRAIN

Miss Mary F. Smith, a public stenographer, with an office in Boston, was instantly killed today when she was struck by a Boston & Maine locomotive at the Brattle Station, Arlington. Witnesses said the woman attempted to run across the tracks in front of the train pulling into the station. Miss Smith made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kelly at No. 51 Mt. Vernon street, Arlington. She is survived by a mother and father who live in Ireland, and three sisters who reside at Lowell.

OPEN DRIVE FOR BIG MERCHANT MARINE

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES.

Washington, Jan. 24.—A nation-wide drive for a great American merchant marine has been set on foot by the National Conservation of Business Men, Shippers and Publicists.

E. Goodwin Rhett of Charleston, S. C., former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, was elected chairman of the Merchant Marine League, and Winthrop L. Marvin, secretary.

Rear Admiral Chadwick, who was a vital participant, boldly charged that the recalcitrant members of Congress had something to do with the effort to turn over our shipping interests to private owners. The admiral mildly declared that the interests of the country were paramount to the interests and ownership of the private shipbuilders. He said:

"I think it is most unfortunate that we should now attempt to organize any association on private lines."

"My feeling is that the interests of the various parties already engaged in shipping in the United States are well represented by the American Steamship Association.

"We should have some unprejudiced body, capable of expressing judgment on this matter, something that we have not heretofore had.

"To attempt to control and make clear to the people of the United States what the issues are, by interested parties, is to doom the project to failure."

But Senator Ransdell, quoting from the resolution, declared the platform was broad enough for any person to stand on, and that no pronouncement of a definite policy had been made.

Matthew Woll, representing Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, said the federation would join the organization if it could be assured that the freedom of the seaman as well as the freedom of the seas was one of its cardinal principles.

"But if the American seaman was to be reduced to a condition of serfdom, Mr. Woll said he was sure the federation would champion opposition against such an association."

CALL OUT MILITIA BECAUSE OF HOLDUPS

Rutherford, N. J., Jan. 24.—Two squads of State troops will patrol Rutherford at night hereafter in an effort to cut down the number of holdups here.

Americans Offset Low Wages in England By New Ideas

Lord Pirrie, controller-general of merchant shipbuilding in Great Britain, paid a tribute to American enterprise and inventive genius when he said:

"The American is an inventive individual, and necessity is usually the mother of his invention. The great extra cost of wages has made employers introduce machinery far in advance of anything known elsewhere and the result usually seems to have been good. This vast introduction of machinery and the extra capital employed offset the low British wage. It is a complicated problem, but that is the rock to us. The American not only scraps the old and worn-out, but he scraps the new, if anything better appears. This makes for progress. It may seem to waste, but really it trends away from waste."

$3,500,000 IN FURS SOLD AT ST. LOUIS AUCTION

St. Louis, Jan. 24.—Sales at the big fur auction here have reached a high total of $3,500,000. An American "elephant gray" dye, which adds a richer and thicker tone to the market fur, received considerable attention among the trade.

Officials of the Manufacturers' Association predict that labor difficulties with the furriers and garment workers will be settled before manufacturing resumes.

ENGLISHMEN TO HONOR MEMORY OF LOWELL

New York, Jan. 24.—Several noted Englishmen are expected here soon to participate in the centenary celebration of the birthday of James Russell Lowell. John Galsworthy will arrive in a few days, while others expected include James M. Barrie, Gilbert K. Chesterton, Rudyard Kipling, Robert Bridges, Maurice Maeterlinck, Viscount Grey and Conan Doyle.

Baltimore (President Fred J. Reames of the Financial Delegation of Baltimore will make an official visit to Boston this week, No. 14 No. 1651 Washington street, Monday. James Michael J. Murray will be one of the speakers.

BOOK AERO SQUADRONS FOR AN EARLY RETURN

Washington, Jan. 24.—The assignment to early action of the following units was announced by the War Department today: Aero squadrons 14, 78, 161, 168, 488, 817, 187 and 494; Base Hospital No. 13 and Air Service Mechanics Company 2.

"ZION FLAG DAY" TO HELP NATIONAL FUND

Tomorrow will be "Zion Flag Day" in Boston, when hundreds of young Jewish women will sell Zionist flags for the benefit of the Jewish National Fund. The purpose of the fund is the redemption of Palestine for the Jews. Miss Eva Marcus will be in charge of the drive.

PAIN, PAIN, PAIN STOP NEURALGIA

Rub nerve torture, pain and all misery right out with "St. Jacobs Liniment"

You are to be pitied—but remember that neuralgia torture and pain is the easiest thing in the world to stop. Please don't continue to suffer, it's so needless. Get from your druggist the small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Liniment"; pour a little in your hand and gently rub the "tender nerve" or sore spot, and instantly—yes, immediately—all pain, ache and soreness is gone.

"St. Jacobs Liniment" conquers pain—it's perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin. Nothing else gives relief so quickly. It never fails to stop neuralgia pain instantly, whether in the face, head or any part of the body. Don't suffer! —Advertisement.

'GIVE WAR BONUS TO HEROES,' IS CAMPAIGN CRY OF NEW ENGLAND

LEGAL AID IS GIVEN TO MEN

and the writers declare that the American is doing a patriotic thing which should warn it the undying gratitude of all men of the service.

Further endorsement of this newspaper's effort to secure governmental recognition in the shape of a bonus for returned and returning heroes has been given by the Cambridge City Employes' Union at a meeting held in Cambridge lower hall, No. 631 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge.

UNION INDORSES PETITION.

The indorsement is contained in a letter from Humphrey Sullivan, secretary of the union, of which John J. Corcoran is president. The communication states that the action of the union was unanimous and that soldiers fighting the stand taken by the American in behalf of service men.

Letters from all over the six States contain not only commendation, but thousands of signatures have come, day by day. Springfield, Me., came 200, St. Albans and other cities in Vermont sent many, and New Hampshire and Connecticut are not backward in rallying to the support of their brave heroes who have made bright pages of history in the great war.

Representatives of the legal aid department of the Soldiers' Service Bureau, as the Soldiers' Friend is expected to be called, appeared in the Suffolk Probate Court to secure the appointment of a guardian for Mrs. Sadie Jacobs Samson of No. 15 Blossom street, whose brother, David Jacobs, died at Camp Devens of pneumonia in September, while awaiting transfer to overseas duty.

Being under age, Mrs. Samson could not act in the matter of receiving insurance due her from her brother's death, except through a guardian, as she is only nineteen years old. The woman's father, Joseph Samson, was appointed to act for her in that capacity.

While this was the first court appearance of representatives of the legal aid department, the services of this department of the Soldiers' Service Bureau is being constantly called upon to give free legal advice and to aid in securing allotments and allowances delayed for various reasons. Two, and frequently three, lawyers are kept busy attending to the details of this work.

SERVICE MEN SEEKING JOBS.

That the absorption of soldiers, sailors and marines into industry is proceeding slowly, is apparent in the large number of discharged service men who are seeking positions. Many report that they cannot apply for their places back. Some can have their old jobs at less money, a proposal which they have indignantly declined. But a number of others do not want their old jobs back, but ask only for work offering note remuneration.

"We fellows are certainly grateful to the American for trying to get us six months' pay," said one of the soldiers who called again for a position. "If we don't get it I don't know what we will do. I know lots of discharged men from the army and navy who haven't a cent."

Hugh L. Oldham of No. 178 New Village street, Plainfield, Ct., who served in the Canadian Rodineers writes that he was glad to get on with $75 from the Canadian government and his old job awaiting him when he got back.

"About 30 per cent of the men discharged have less than $25 and this will not buy a suit of clothes and underwear that they will need," he writes. "I wish your petition success. This is the least that a grateful country can do for the men who have sacrificed and are suffering now."

But the Soldiers' ServiceBureau is not confining itself to this petition for six months pay. Aid will be extended to discharged men of the service in any and every possible way. The purpose of the bureau is to be of real service to the men of the United States army, navy and marines, its very first duty, and to their families.

If advantage has been taken of the absence of men men from home, if questions affecting back pay and allotments need to be cleared up, if legal advice is necessary—one or all of these things will be furnished gratis.

FREE MEDICAL AID.

The Soldiers' Service Bureau is prepared also to obtain free medical and dental aid for discharged men of whatever branch of the service through the Parents' Volunteer Medical Aid Association composed of reputable doctors in various parts of Greater Boston.

Tell your service troubles to the Soldiers' Service Bureau. Write to the Soldiers' Service Bureau at the Boston American, No. 89 Summer street.

SOLDIERS' FRIEND REPLIES TO QUERIES

Readers of the Boston American are following with daily growing interest the answers of the Soldiers' Friend to queries of every nature relative to men in the service and their affairs.

Address all communications to the Soldiers' Friend, Boston American, No. 82 Summer street, Boston.

JUST FROM RANKIN—You ask whether a man may be discharged who has a position, before a man with a dependent child who also has a position. I can answer that for this, for I have known it to be done. The justice of such procedure is up to the Army authorities.

SAILOR'S WIFE—U. S. S. C. 262 should arrive soon if it has not already reached an American port.

ANXIOUS MOTHER—To secure the discharge of your only son from the Army of occupation would require extraordinary influence. Dischargees are not given until soldiers are entitled home. The First Division (Regulars) will probably be one of the last to leave Europe. The difficulties of having your son transferred as he is still assigned for early convoy would be numerous. If you wish you might write your Congressman and the Massachusetts Senators.

MRS. F. B.—Postmaster—The 248th Infantry is assigned for early return. Units of its division, the 57th, are already home on the Mauretania.

A SOLDIER'S WIFE—The 1st Battalion, F. A. R. I., is not attached to a division. It was at last reports located at Le Courneau. It has not been assigned for convoy as a battalion, although it may have been included in among small companies and other units on the priority list.

G. W. BEAL, STREET—The sergeant is evidently in Paris, and stopping in a fashionable quarter, too.

CHARLESTOWN WIFE, MRS. E. J. C.—The 2d Pioneers were last reported with headquarters at Rampont. They have not yet appeared on the priority list.—This also answers Anxious Cambridge Mother and M. A. L.—The regiment is not in any division. It was a short time ago attached to the First Army.

S. E., New Bedford—The 15th Field Artillery is in the 2d Division, now in the Army of Occupation. It will be some little time before it returns. The fact that he is in the Army of Occupation would not delay the delay in the mail. We will look up the allotment matter and report as soon as we can do so.

D. S., Holyoke—Of course we cannot say why your brother does not write, and if you have had no casualty report it is fair to assume that he is all right. We will, however, ask our Paris office to report upon his welfare, and will request him to write.

O. M. H., Boston—The 55th C. A. C. are in the neighborhood of Brest so far as we can learn. Though not yet listed for return, I think they will be home soon.

A SOLDIER'S WIFE, Bristol, R. I.—The 301st Field Artillery was in the 76th Division and have been assigned for early return.

MRS. W. C., Providence, R. I.—The unit you mention is in no division so far as I can ascertain it is not yet designated for return.

DR. AND MRS. F. P. V., Weymouth—The information you request has not been officially given out as yet.

LOOKSOME, Keene, N. H.—This unit has not yet been listed for return. It is a portion of the Army of Occupation now in Germany so that it will be some time before it comes home. It takes mail much longer to reach these men.

CHEF'S SISTER ALICE, Brockton—25th C. A. C. is in no division. They have not yet been listed for return, but I believe they will be home soon.

A SOLDIER'S WIFE, Livermore Falls, Me.—The 303rd Field Artillery was in the 76th Division." They have been listed for an early return.

MRS. J. C., Lawrence—The 306th Field Artillery is in the 77th Division. They are not yet listed for return, but are in Northern France.

MRS. C. C. S., Pittsfield—So far as we know the 55th C. A. C. is still an organization. It should be home before long, although not listed to date.

A DAUGHTER OF A VETERAN, Cambridge—He has probably been transferred to another unit. The unit you mention is not listed for return.

TWO ANXIOUS MOTHERS—Battery F, 55th Artillery, U. S. C., at Brest has been ordered home.

Soldiers' Service Bureau for Soldiers, Sailors and Marines

The Soldiers' Friend will henceforth be known by the above title. The change is made to have the title the same in all the cities from coast to coast where a Hearst newspaper is published. The purposes of the Soldiers' Service Bureau will continue to be the same, namely:

1—To conduct a legal bureau, with headquarters in Washington and with branches in each city where a Hearst paper is published.
2—To have the severe sentences of courts-martial examined into to see if any injustice has been done and to fight for the righting of all wrongs that may have been done by courts-martial.
3—To aid discharged soldiers in securing positions.
4—To List employers ready to hire discharged men.
5—To gain special medical attention for recently discharged men.
6—To work for the rapid discharge of soldiers, with six months' pay in advance.
7—To help relatives find men in the service.
8—To hurry the settlement of allotments and pay where delays have occurred.
9—To provide information consistent with the nature of this department.
10—To aid in the formation of associations of veterans of the great war; to list those formed and to assist them in working out their plans.
11—To arrange lodgings for visiting service men.
12—To give legal and seek personal aid where soldiers' families are threatened with dispossess proceedings.

Physicians Enlist to Aid Discharged Soldiers

Through the Soldiers' Friend the following physicians will give free medical treatment to discharged soldiers, sailors and marines who are ill and out of funds, at the places and at the hours named:

Dr. Williams Burns, No. 1747 Dorchester avenue, Ashmont, 6 to 8 p. m.

Dr. Philip Castleman, No. 483 Beacon street, Back Bay, 5 to 7 p. m.

Dr. Francis J. McMahon, No. 370 Washington street, Brookline, 2 to 3 p. m.

Dr. John Duff, No. 5 Dexter Row, Charlestown, 1:30 to 3:30 p. m.

Dr. Thomas Heaton, No. 788 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, 2 to 3 p. m.

Dr. Henry M. Grady, No. 159 East High street, Dedham, during office hours.

Dr. Lewis E. H. Harnett, No. 327 Geneva avenue, Dorchester, 2 to 3 p. m.

Dr. Arthur H. Davison, No. 584 Washington street, Dorchester, 1 to 2 p. m.

Dr. T. Morton Gallagher, No. 31 Channing street, Newton, during office hours.

Dr. Edward P. Powers, No. 1615 Tremont street, Roxbury, 2 to 4 p. m.

Dr. Herbert J. Keenan, No. 254 West Broadway, South Boston, 2 to 3 p. m.

Dr. W. Randolph Angell, No. 22 Tremont Row, 5 to 6 p. m.

Dr. John C. McManaman, No. 15 Church street, Waltham, during office hours.

Dr. Charles S. Emerson, No. 81 Mount Auburn street, Watertown, during office hours.

Dr. Edward E. Bancroft, No. 604 Washington street, Wellesley, during office hours.

POST TOASTIES (MADE OF CORN)

Don't fret about that ugly rash—Let Resinol heal it

You just dread to put on your clothes—their contact with that distressing rash is unbearable—and every day it becomes worse—more angry looking. Cease getting—don't let yourself become distracted, for here's the very thing to use—Resinol Ointment.

Physicians for many years have prescribed Resinol Ointment for cases similar to yours.

Remember Resinol Soap also contains the same healing medication that is embodied in the ointment—use them both for quicker results.

At all druggists.

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's careless living that puts men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit.

The kidneys are the most overworked organs in the human body. When they break down, the skin, brain and the deadly uric acid accumulates and eventually causes Bright's disease. Backache and scratch the delicate urinary channels, causing irritations which may cause permanent stricture and often in turn into deadly Bright's Disease.

Don't neglect the first symptoms of kidney action to pain or stiffness in the small of the back. Use Doan's Kidney Pills directly the first indications of trouble appear. Don't wait until serious results and incurable maladies set in.

Doan's will give you relief in almost immediate relief. If for any reason they should not, your money will be refunded. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Insist on sealed boxes, three sizes—Advertisement.

A NEW HAMPSHIRE—The 314th Infantry, Co. G, is with the 79th Division in Army of Occupation in Germany. Use the same address you give in writing your son, adding 79th Division.

MISS E. M. F.—Co. A, 307th Infantry is with the 77th Division at Chabarrillain and has not been designated for early convoy.

MISS M. B.—The 51st Regiment, C. A. C., ordered home, is not connected with the 26th Division.

Boston Brockton Beverly Hyde Park Lynn Providence Springfield Worcester

It's going to be a cold day before you see any more such big clothing values as those we are offering in this

Mark-Down Sale

This is a time of readjustment in our stocks—cutting them down to more nearly normal size. That's the only reason for such substantial price reductions. The prospect of lower clothing prices has nothing to do with it, for no such prospect is in view. In fact, clothing will cost more before it costs any less.

The papers are full of Sale announcements just now, but we have yet to see or hear of any merchandise finer than ours, or any reduced prices lower than our regular prices were throughout the season. Probably no store in America so fully protected its customers against price advances during the past year as we did.

Now you can step into this Live Store and make a still further saving of real money on clothes of a quality almost unobtainable anywhere else. And the stock is a big one, too. Whatever your age or size or preference, we can suit you. Everything is marked down except blue and black suits and heavy ulsters.

Kuppenheimer clothes are all included

Seeking a Job by Mail

THIS is a day of letter writing. A vast deal of business is done by correspondence.

There are large concerns doing business only by mail.

In most cases, however successful, almost any business can be helped along by a neat letter writing.

Experience counts.

Although your business at present is looking for employment:

Be sure a few points. They are practical, sensible and plain.

1. Make use of Boston Evening American Want Ads. Examine the list every day. Something is constantly coming up.

2. Cut out each Ad that strikes you as a good "prospect" and paste it on a card. Make a card index of these cards. They are easier to handle, and to change, and to slip in your pocket, than a notebook.

3. Note on each card the date of the paper containing the Ad, the date when answer was sent and when you called, and any other fact about that prospect.

4. Here is a simple letter to use and you should write

John Smith & Company,
12 Roanoke Street,
Boston, Mass.

Dear Sirs:

I noticed your advertisement in the Boston American of January 23, 1919, Friday.

I may be the chauffeur you want, and will be pleased to call on you, at the time and place you name, for a personal interview.

1910-12 I drove a U. S. Mail truck.

1913 I was employed by Mr. W. F. Hughes, 1729 Green Street, as chauffeur, and drove his Pierce Arrow car, and left his employ because he sold his car and went to California.

1913-1918 I worked for Mr. Charles M. Jones, 19 Wall Street, and drove Dodge Bros. car, and Studebaker [illegible]

I enclose copies of references [illegible] which, I hope, you will find very satisfactory.

You can reach me at the Hotel Touraine, where I now work, 61 West 8th Street, telephone Main 775648, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Yours respectfully,
Charles Robinson

5. Have your letters typewritten. It will cost but little, and it pays. Nobody likes to read handwriting.

6. Have your letter neat and clean. Don't have any erasures or mistakes. Sign your name BOTH with the typewriter and with your signature in handwriting.

7. Be brief when you write. Be explicit. Tell the truth, and no more than the truth.

8. Keep on watching Boston Evening American Want Ads and keep on writing until you secure the position you want.

SNYDER AND JOSEPHS COLLIDE IN ARENA OF C. A. C.

By NICK FLATLEY.

INTRODUCING again—Bobby Josephs and Barney Snyder. These two youngsters who have been in the public prints latterly more than is the case with most fighters will settle the matter of supremacy for twelve rounds at the Commercial Club

Bobby and Barney have made a specialty of the centre of more than one ring argument and has been heard hereabouts since David fought Goliath in the days when battlers didn't bother about the weight question. The pair—Bobby and Barney we mean will decide the New England bantamweight title this P. M.

In the course of the two fifteen Barney has said [illegible] about the most dangerous looking [illegible] and the [illegible] is also apparent in meeting [illegible] in the ring. He has been working [illegible] for the match and [illegible] and does like that. He will enter the ring known as the good-appearing fighter.

Young Master Josephs, who has flattened nearly all his opponents since he entered the professional ranks a few months back, has trained very hard since [illegible] first. He will top [illegible] the scales when he comes in the ring and [illegible] some [illegible] which is called late just as [illegible] ever to wade with it might be said, in very good [illegible]

Local Rivalry Will Draw Big Crowd.

BOTH youngsters [illegible] noon, and [illegible] guarantee [illegible] James [illegible] reside [illegible] Both [illegible] are [illegible] by [illegible] yesterday [illegible] the house [illegible] from the [illegible] a cash.

To Repair a Curtain

THE quickest way to repair a torn curtain is to cut a piece of similar net from an old curtain, slightly damp it and fix it over the rent, press firmly with a hot iron, and the starch will hold it for the time being, after which it can be stitched securely round the edges.

This Day in Our History

THIS is the anniversary of the capture in 1781 of a British garrison at Georgetown, S. C., by Gen. Francis Marion, a patriot leader and the greatest and most successful of the American soldiers in the South. He evaded every effort of Cornwallis to capture him and did incalculable harm to the British cause.

MUSTEROLE—QUICK RELIEF! NO BLISTER!

It Soothes and Relieves Like a Mustard Plaster Without the Burn or Sting

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old fashioned mustard plaster—and a little better—but does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and usually the pain is relieved.

Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients. They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (often prevent pneumonia). 30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

Stocks at New Highest Prices in Afternoon Trading

'MEXICAN PETE' AND STEEL ACTIVE

Market Climbs at Midday; Short Covering Continues and Gains Are Large

By W. H. ROSS
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong in New York at noontime, with steels and oils among the leaders of the advance. Rails were not prominent, excepting Reading, that issue was fairly active and advanced a point during the morning. Bethlehem B was a feature at the opening, selling at from 53½ to 53¾, in different parts of the room in initial transactions. It sold up to 60¼ later. Coppers were quiet, business in this group being confined largely to Anaconda. Up to 12 o'clock the largest gains were attained by Royal Dutch and Mexican Petroleum. Trading was of moderate volume only. A number of issues advanced more than a point, but the majority a fraction only. Speculators were in a waiting mood. News from Paris and Washington is eagerly awaited. It is rumored that there is a surplus in the money situation within a week, and that restrictions against loans on collateral to commission houses may be relaxed if not removed shortly.

MARKET STRONGER AT START.

The New York market was a little stronger at the start, sentiment being better because the Bethlehem Steel dividend declaration was more than the many traders expected. Steels made small gains and rails and oils were higher. Anaconda was strong among coppers but failed to hold long all of its point advance. Royal Dutch began with a two-point gain and U. S. Rubber with one. American Hide & Leather preferred advanced more than a point on the first few sales, trading one quiet and professional. There was covering on some scale.

The short interest in rails is said to be far larger than most traders believed. They were heavily sold on the assumption that investors would unload because of an unfavorable outlook as to the labor and fuel element, in fact, is said to have made a strong effort to force general liquidation, and it may resume it with greater aggressiveness on the receipt of any unfavorable news. It is general understanding that the market has been oversold, and it is claimed by many traders that selling is due to technical conditions.

But some leading financiers, it is said, contend, that trade curtailments have been exaggerated and that neither the stock market nor the business situation in general is anywhere near as dubious as represented. Big interests are said to be accumulating a number of stocks on declines.

FINANCIAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

Wheat crop reports from the West are good. The condition of Winter wheat is well maintained, although snow has disappeared in many sections. Big crops this year will help lower food prices and contribute to prosperity.

The reduction of the Greene-Cananea dividend was due to a desire to conserve cash resources and uncertainty as to future metal demand and prices.

Representatives of the newly formed Copper Export Association sail for Europe tomorrow to form an organization in Europe to handle the foreign business of the association.

Chairman Kruttschnitt of the Southern Pacific favors the use of water routes to relieve rail congestion. Sticker office recommends unification of terminals, pooling of repair shops and other railroad measures to reduce expenses and add to transportation efficiency.

According to consular reports, Germans are getting ready to resume business. A representative of a German syndicate has visited Sweden to buy 200,000 to 600,000 tons of iron ore. But Germany has only 70,000 or 80,000 tons to sell.

According to the Geological Survey, this country's Portland cement output in 1918 was the smallest since 1909. Shipments last year are estimated at 71,645,000 barrels, valued at $135,910,004, compared with 95,762,474 barrels, valued at $122,775,088 in 1917, a decrease in quantity of 21 per cent. and value of 7.5 per cent.

Wage Cuts at the Lake

Wage curtailment is going on at Lake Superior copper mines. The Victoria Mining Company has reduced wages 15 per cent., following the example of Mass Consolidated, as an alternative for suspension. The employes understand the situation and accept it philosophically. The Quincy Mining Company will also reduce wages 15 per cent. soon. The Copper Range Company will first effect a wage reduction at present, for partial production as the mine is now producing only about 75 per cent. of normal. Quincy and Hancock Consolidated are expected to curtail as the main shaft to Calumet and Hecla, where mines operate four days one week and five the next.

Tungsten Production

According to preliminary statistics gathered by the United States Geological Survey, the production of tungsten ores in the United States in 1918 was equivalent to 6,065 short tons of concentrates, carrying 60 per cent. tungsten trioxide, of which 5,015 tons, valued at $5,136,000, was marketed. Of the remainder, the products are fifty tons left at the mines at the end of the year.

Metal Market Dull

New York, Jan. 24.—The metal market was dull today, and prices were: Lead, East St. Louis spot and January moved 5.50; spelter weak, East St. Louis spot offered 7; January and February offered 6.90; March offered 6.85. April offered 6.80.

LIVERPOOL BUYS COTTON; WALL STREET COVERS

New York, Jan. 24.—The cotton market opened firm today with January 60 points lower under final long liquidation. Later the markets were one point lower to 10 points higher on strong cables, buying by Liverpool and active coverings by Wall street shorts. The advance encouraged New Orleans and other selling and prices reacted some twenty points shortly after the start, but met with support from the demand from foreign trade interests and shorts.

Opening prices were: January 22.55; March, 21.40; May, 20.50; July, 19.95; October, 19.30.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Corn opened ¼ to ¾c higher. Oats were ¼ to ¾ higher. Provisions opened lower.

Opening prices were: Corn, January, 1.32; February, 1.28¾; March, 1.26¾; May, January, 62¾; February, 62¾; March, 62¾. Lard, May, 23.52. Ribs, May, 21.55.

Prices today: Consols 3 per cent., new, 58¾; 2½ per cent., 35 15-16; 3½ per cent., 41; 4 per cent., 49¾; British 5 per cent., 101¾; Brazilian 5s, 59; Argentine 5s, 69; 4s, 92; Japanese 4½ per cent., 87½; 4s, 72½; Russian 5s, 20; 4½s, 20; 4s, 13½.

REVENUE BILL DELAY TIES UP TREASURY

Congress Making Situation Harder to Handle, Says Glass

Washington, Jan. 24.—"You can quote me as saying that the Treasury Department is being seriously embarrassed by the delay of Congress in passing the revenue bill.

"Your revenue cannot be raised until the country have their hands tied in arranging for the collection of taxes under the measure because they don't know what they will have to do and we cannot establish machinery to do it.

"Continued delay is making it harder to handle a situation in which the country is vitally interested."

Secretary of the Treasury Carter Glass came out flatly in the words quoted above in criticism of the attitude of Congress on the revenue bill.

It was made known at the Treasury Department that rumors which have been prevalent around Washington, that the bill might be taken up over the senate bill reached the Treasury. Officials expressed the opinion, however, that the rumors were overdrawn.

Secretary Glass has offered for subscription through federal reserve banks a minimum of $600,000,000 Treasury certificates of indebtedness payable July 1 with interest at 4¼ per cent. per annum. The fourth issue weekly series of $600,000,000 was over-subscribed by $101,300, he further announced.

PEACE MAY NOT CAUSE SILVER PRICE DECLINE

It is doubted in London and elsewhere among silver dealers if the cessation of war, which caused an advance, will bring about any immediate reduction in the price of the white metal.

Dealers think that with free mints China will be a large buyer, and that even with increased output from the mines of Mexico, Canada and Australia, if silver is relieved of government control, especially in the United States and Great Britain, its price will advance rather than recede this year.

July 1 Ends Wool Sales

Washington, Jan. 24.—The War Department announced today its sales of surplus wool stocks on hand on July 1, the date when domestic clip is expected to appear in the market. It was announced today. The sales will not be resumed until October 1, thus giving domestic producers ample time to supply the needs of the manufacturers, it was explained.

N. Y. Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, Jan. 24.—The sub-treasury gained $4,100,000 on its sales of bonds making a cash set gain since Friday of $3,190,000.

COMPERS TRYING TO RAISE FOREIGN WAGES

One of the main objects of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor in making his present visit to Europe, it is stated in Washington, is to work for higher wages in Europe and thereby prevent a decline in wages in this country through foreign competition. He is working through the International Trades Union, which aims to benefit the condition of workingmen all over the world.

Secretary Morrison of the Federation says the International Union will be kept aloof from the radical socialist faction, he understands, and that is why the American Labor delegates refused to join in the Berne, Switzerland, conference, backed by Arthur Henderson, the British labor leader, who refuses to admit the Bolsheviki.

"It is declared the Berne conference will not truly represent the workers," said that the American Federation of Labor will not join in it," Morrison says.

The Prohibition Victory Is a Great Triumph for the American Clergy

Last week the last of the necessary two-thirds of our American States ratified the amendment of our national Constitution prohibiting the manufacture and the sale of intoxicating liquor in the United States.

This consummation of the struggle lasting a whole generation has come so quietly that few who do not reflect upon its consequences will realize how great they are and what a momentous change this constitutional amendment has wrought in the physical and moral life of our American Commonwealth.

The Federal Constitution, our fundamental national law, has received from the conscience and commonsense of our nation two cardinal economic and moral changes. First, the abolition of slavery by the fourteenth amendment. Second, the present amendment abolishing intoxicating liquor.

The abolition of slavery and the abolition of liquor have many points of similarity. Both in the best sense were immoral. Both tended to destroy white labor. The defenders of both evils offered many of the same arguments. Those who defended slavery declared that the slave was an inferior creature by inheritance; that slavery was his natural level; that the law merely confirmed what nature had decreed. The apologists for liquor always treated its victims in about the same way. They were always weak creatures who were not brought into the gutter by liquor, but by weak, inherited character. In the days of slavery there were many, many thousands of people who honestly believed the atrocious sophisms with which slavery was excused. There are many hundreds of thousands of perfectly honest citizens who believed that the wrecked life of the drunkard is no reproach to intoxicating liquor, because the drunkard was forordained by his character to failure; that if he did not go by way of intoxicating liquor he would go by some other, and, perhaps, some worse way.

Both in the day of slavery and in the day of liquor there was a still larger class of citizens, who though not deceived by the sophistry which exculpated slavery and liquor for the destruction of the man in their victims, yet felt no obligation to stamp it out. Such were the so-called "Cotton-Wigs" of the North, generally the wealthy class in New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, who felt a certain class conscious sympathy with the aristocratic slaveholder of the South and who incidentally found profits in the trafficking of cotton, the great product of slave labor. So, with respect to liquor, there is a great class among us who, because they are able to use liquor moderately, or who abstain from its use altogether, find that a reason for opposing prohibition. When a clergyman or zealous lay preacher of prohibition pointed to the victims of liquor in the poverty-stricken, unhappy homes, in the jails, almshouses, the insane asylums and the premature graves, these self-satisfied men gave Cain's answer, "Am I my brother's keeper?"

But what a difference in the scenes which attended the passing away of these two great evils. Slavery was dissolved in the life blood of the flower of our American nation in the worst fratricidal conflict that the world had ever seen, in the most destructive war known to history until the great world war which has just ended in the destruction of autocracy. Liquor has passed away without a blow, in the peaceful and orderly constitutional evolution of our American civilization.

January 16 will be a day renowned in American annals and will shine with equal light beside our greatest military achievements, for "Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war."

This is a great triumph for the American clergy. When the bells of the American churches rang out that night to announce the glad tidings of this wonderful victory, their tones might well have awakened a proper sense of human pride as well as Christian satisfaction in the breast of our American clergmen.

The churches of America under the leadership of their clergy, with the exception of some members of the Episcopalian hierarchy, have won this great moral and economic triumph, aided by the powerful organization, the Anti-Saloon League. The Catholic and Protestant churches alike have carried this struggle against the use of intoxicating liquor for a whole generation. They have advanced to the attack by different routes, but in the same general direction. The Catholic churches labored to prevent their communicants from being willing to use liquor, while the Protestant churches labored to prevent them from being able to use it. Well may the nation be grateful to its clergy for this one splendid contribution to the health and morals of our people.

It would be a prudish modesty which would prevent the Boston American from adverting with some pride to the contribution which it has made in the last few years to the development of public sentiment against the use of intoxicating liquors. No general newspaper in America, except the other Hearst newspapers, has given equal space and editorial and artistic talent to exposing the evils of liquor and especially of the strong drinks. During the last stage of the fight against intoxicating liquor, finding that the light wines and beers must be sacrificed in order to destroy the stronger drinks, the American joined in the campaign against ALL intoxicating liquor. The American has not printed advertisements of strong drinks. The Hearst newspapers have sacrificed hundreds of thousands of dollars of income on this account, but we believe that it was bread cast on the waters.

As the years roll by those who are in the liquor business and who, with much justice, feel bitterly that their business, licensed by law, was taken from them without compensation, will, like the old slaveholders, look back and be glad for their children's sake and for the sake of their country that they were compelled to make a sacrifice, which after all is immeasurably less than has been made by those sixty thousand American youths who are sleeping today their long sleep in France.

A One-Armed Soldier. House Cats and Foxes. The Hohenzollern Birthday Russia for Russians.

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1919.)

Huse and brother own the Daily News at Norfolk, Neb. This interesting story Huse tells about one American soldier waiting for a train at Sioux City, Ia.:

The soldier had lost one arm fighting in France. He looked weary and ill. "Where are you going?" asked the woman. "I am going to Pierce, Nebraska," said the soldier.

Said the woman, "You look tired; won't you have a cup of coffee while you are waiting?"

"Yes," said the soldier. "I will, since you are so kind. I have my ticket home, but I haven't a cent of money, and I have eaten nothing today."

How do you like that picture of an American soldier with one arm left in France, especially when you compare it with the present condition of certain soldiers in the great American stay-at-home army of profiteers?

What do you think about allowing a one-armed man to start for home without a dollar?

Would it be too much to give every soldier, honorably discharged, all pay for at least six months, while he looks around for a chance to get back the useful work that he gave up to serve his country?

Official news comes that the Allies have decided to let the Russians run Russia in their own way. It's excellent news, meaning trouble avoided in the future. When a hundred and fifty million people, as in Russia, eighty-five per cent. of them unable to read or write, decide that they want to fight each other, there is danger for the man who interferes, even with the praiseworthy desire to compel Russians to pay the national debt that they have repudiated.

"Put not your finger between the bark and the tree," says the ancient proverb, meaning that it is not wise to interfere between man and wife.

"Put not your finger between the Bolsheviki and the bond issue," is also a good proverb.

How many things may happen between two birthdays. The former Kaiser next Monday celebrates the sixtieth anniversary of his birth. Many paragraphs will be written about it. Job wrote the perfect paragraph long ago:

"Let the day perish wherein I was born, and the night in which it was said, There is a man child conceived. "Let darkness and the shadow of death stain it; a cloud dwell upon it; let the blackness of the day terrify it."

It would be interesting to know just how a man feels on the first birthday that finds him fallen from the throne of power to doubt, despair and uncertainty as to his life. What a day of rage, hate, vain regrets, accusation! You need not envy William Hohenzollern next Monday.

There is an empty seat in some London music hall. King Manuel of Portugal is on a ship off the coast, waiting to be called back to the throne. He belongs to the race that "never forgot anything and never learned anything." But if he lands in Portugal and tries to climb back on the throne, it is probable that he will learn something—and never forget it.

The people of Europe know at least one thing now, which is that THEY DON'T NEED KINGS.

"Nobody loves me," said the sad young woman, hopefully.

"You are mistaken," said the unresponsive young man. "God loves you and so does your mother."

Mr. Hoover's feelings are hurt by the charge made in the Senate that he was the best friend the packers ever had. Mr. Hoover seems startled and says nobody loves him. He is mistaken.

Civilian chauffeurs employed by the government are being discharged and soldiers put in their places.

Eighty civilians were recently dropped in Washington to make room for soldiers. In Boston several hundred have been dropped. It would be better to give the soldier six months' pay and let him find a job of his own, rather than to discharge civilians to make room. The soldier would prefer that.

In these appointments of soldiers to replace civilians there is the foundation for earnest thinking by men that may be contemplating strikes unless in cases of absolute necessity or injustice. There will soon be half a million, and later a million, soldiers in uniform looking for jobs. They would be gladly taken to replace strikers. With the War Department's permission to wear their uniforms for three months, they would offer quite a problem to the strikers.

It is worth while for the labor leaders to think about that.

At the St. Louis fur sale 1,000 silver fox skins sold for $185 each. And 20,000 house cat skins for about 80 cents apiece.

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

At the annual meeting of the Union Railway Company of Cambridge in January, 1869, as shown by files of the Cambridge Chronicle, the treasurer reported on operating loss for the past year of $4,278.45. The report of the meeting adds: "The company voted to lop off all non-paying routes." This amputation of unprofitable routes, therefore, is nothing new. To paraphrase the title of a certain song, "Your Directors Did the Same Thing Fifty Years Ago."

A Business Man's View of Bolshevism

The following essay on Bolshevism expresses the views of one of the most distinguished and important of New England's business men. A natural modesty and a desire to keep out of personal discussion regarding the matter, has caused him to send this to the Boston American with the request that it be used without his name. If his name were used, there is not a man or woman in New England who would not know him.

While the American does not agree with the views expressed in this essay, in accordance with its usual custom of presenting all sides, the American herewith reproduces the essay in full.

THOMAS CARLYLE cried out years ago, half in wrath and half in despair: "Oh, if men only would think!" No man in his time pondered more upon the idiosyncrasies of his fellowmen than did this old Scotch philosopher, and no man has even described human society in the chaos of fermentation as he has done. It was quite evident to him, as it is to many of us, that men as a rule do not give thought to matters beyond their daily tasks, for if they did, false philosophies would be laughed into the oblivion of ridicule very shortly after birth.

Bolshevism is a nebulous, mysterious thing to most people. It is a chameleon in appearance, now seeming to be an integration of human Slavic elements assuming form, radiating energy and discovering a voice, at another time a pitiable crying to mankind for brotherhood and human sympathy, and again it appears like a hive of bees swarming, unintelligent as to their destiny, but compelled to readjust themselves within their environment. At still other moments it appears to be nothing more than the scum brought to the surface by the fermentation of a nation.

Dreamer of Dreams

Bolshevism is the ideal of the ignorant dreamer of dreams, of impracticable folk and of all those who would reap where they have not sown. It is vividly illustrated in that parable in the New Testament which tells of a certain householder who, requiring men to work in his vineyards, went into the market place to hire them, first in the early morning, then at the third hour of the day, again at the sixth and ninth hours and finally at the eleventh hour. As will be remembered by all who have delighted in the naivete of this sympathetic story, when evening came the paymaster gave each man a penny for his day's work, without regard to the number of hours he had worked, and each of us has shared the righteous indignation of the men of the early morning who cried out, saying, "These last have wrought but one hour and thou hast made them equal to us which have borne the burden and heat of the day."

Every man can make his own application of this parable. To the man who thinks, however, the following question arises inevitably, viz.: Is a social condition possible wherein the man of the eleventh hour shall rank equally with the man of the early morning, or is it conceivable that society could attain to such a beatific condition that the loafer should share on the same basis with the toiler and the ignorant and shiftless with the educated and ambitious?

Yet Bolshevism demands this, demands it with the disingenuous insistence of childhood, and either raves when its foolish proposals are rejected or strikes out fiercely with its animal strength to acquire by brute force what it cannot gain by idealistic sophistry.

Boiled Down Bolshevism

It has been revealed within the past six months that Bolshevism boiled down to a substance leaves nothing but a slime. Even this new oil flotation process for extracting the last grain of metal from the ore would fail to find anything in it which would float on a bubble. In sentiment it is an appeal that Lazarus shall be fed at the rich man's table, but in practice it is a brutal savagery which, like a wild beast, kills and tortures to vent its bestiality.

Now that Bolshevism has lit up the sky with its lurid flames, men will see more clearly, and it is hoped grow themselves up to a little serious thought. They should know first that isms of the men of the eleventh hour are merely indigestive gas, a complaint, however, which demands the services of an intelligent physician, not a quack. They should also realize that the visible regulator of not only material but human destiny in this world is our good old friend, Mother Nature, that she has been on the job many, many millions of years before men appeared on this planet, that she is most decidedly not fickle in her purposes, but continues constantly and with the utmost patience to work along well-defined lines, and that the broad highway of natural development is individualism demanding expression in every living thing, and constant to itself in every chemical or substance.

The law of the survival of the fittest is in many ways a harsh law, but it is the law of Nature, conceived to be her fundamental law by the first man who reasoned. The law of natural selection is exceedingly unsentimental. Nature wastes no tears on the individual or the species of plant or animal which she discards for unfitness, and yet no one has been so absurd as to apologize for her severity.

Nature's Laws

Mankind has existed long enough to appreciate that Nature's laws are wise. But many men, of an imaginative intelligence, differentiate man from nature, place him in a place apart, and maintain that all of Nature's laws do not apply to him; that he has by reason of his mental development become a social being, and not an individualist as are the trees and rivers; that international brotherhood and not individual development should be the mecca of his social aspirations. They fancy, or as they dignify it in the terms of their philosophy, "consciously believe" that a social position is possible in which the men of the early morning and the eleventh hour men shall share alike, when the strong shall bear lovingly the burdens of the weak, and when the man bursting with initiative shall in the public park with his brother the loafer and glorify Karl Marx.

Justice and truth are as pitiless as they are honest. Individualism is a natural law, cold and stern. Bolshevism appeals to men because of their weaknesses, their purely human inconsistencies. It is seized upon by some as an instrument to create delusive melodies. It expresses a desire to place men in high offices who will make every effort to effect a general jail delivery of wealth, a Kitchenistic blood-letting of those men of the early morning who are so hated because of their intelligence and their love of labor. It is so good to feast on the fruits of the other men's vineyard. It is so delightful and so sweetly sentimental to be able, by the power of office, to say to the men of the early morning, "Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own?"

Wounded Python

Russia, a land red with murder, a State writhing like a sorely wounded python under the stabs of dreamers gone mad, self-styled lovers of mankind come into sovereign power, a country where intelligence hides in the most secret places to escape the assassin. Its only crime being intelligence—this sanguine Russia is Bolshevism come into autocratic control of the lives and affairs of a great people, and thank God a Bolshevism written on the blackboard of the world for all men to see, the sum, the difference, the product and the quotient of nihilism and anarchy.

Let the picture of it and words descriptive of it, stand there as a reminder to mankind that no matter how high the lowly are exalted, experience and tradition teach that a nation's greatness is measured by the moral worth of its individual citizens and that a citizenry of cyphers will never add up to anything.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Evaded Draft

Editor Boston American:

Can you tell me how it is that these aliens who jumped to the shipyards to escape the draft rand as soon as they heard peace was near, and got their courage up, jumped out again, some not even waiting to get their money), managed to get away with it? Our boys have to wait to get mustered out, but these people did not.

At this shipyard you would never know you were in Uncle Sam's country. It is Johnny Bull this and Johnny Bull that. Nothing here, according to these fellows, is up to what you get in England. I asked a few of them what they came over here for and only one told me it was the money.

These people were given to September 28, with a ten-days' margin, to join our army after they refused to join their own army or navy, and still they will not take out their first papers even now. There are fellows who have been working here for two to four years, and some who came from some stone yard are rated as first-class shipfitters.

Give us a few editorials on this subject when you get a chance. America for Americans now and for all time is my motto, and, I think, the American's also.
